

Local Baby's Blood Exchanged in 200-1-Odds Case

By NORMAND POIRIER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

A one-day-old Pottstown baby girl went through a dramatic hour-long "operation" Saturday that saw 85 percent of her blood taken out and replaced with new blood.

The crucial "blood exchange" took place in Children's hospital, Philadelphia, after a hectic one-and-a-half hour long ambulance drive through the county's worst "first-storm" of the season.

The baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Gallo-way, Walnut street, Penn Village.

She was born in Memorial hospital Friday at 10:54 a. m. But 25 hours later, the fact that the baby was suffering from an RH blood difficulty was discovered.

Immediately, she was rushed to the Philadelphia hospital where the "operation" was performed.

IN JUST less than an hour, doctors at the hospital took out 85 percent of her blood—more than one pint—and replaced it with new blood.

The "transfusion" was necessary to avoid later permanent injury to the child.

Last night, authorities at the hospital in Philadelphia reported that the tot had come through the "operation" pretty well.

"She's being watched very carefully of course, the authority said, "but we think she came through very well."

The "operation," performed Saturday afternoon, took just under one hour.

THE METHOD used was this: A flexible plastic needle was inserted into the child's umbilical vein. The doctor took out about one-third of an ounce of blood. He then replaced it with one-third of an ounce of fresh blood, pumped in through the same needle.

Another one-third ounce of blood would be taken out, and replaced again with the same amount.

This was continued until, according to the Philadelphia doctor, "about 85 percent of the child's blood had been replaced with new blood."

WINTER Woes (And Fun)

A well laid snow can make the well laid plans of mice and men go slightly astray, as the poet didn't quite say. That's what happened to area residents over the hectic and unexpected white weekend.

Here are some of the results:

Amity township supervisors had a meeting scheduled for Saturday, but kept the business short.

They had more important business to transact with the township snowplow.

The hard-working supervisors spent the whole day opening roads in their territory.

They paused long enough to hold the short meeting at 4 p. m., then went out once more to battle the snowstorm.

Irwin Geiger presided at the meeting, which was held in the home of Norman C. Smith. The president, Robert Thompson, was not able to be present.

VANDALS 'HIT' NEW SCHOOL IN WEST END

Nine Panes of Glass Broken From Front Of Building

HOODLUMS HEAVE ROCKS, MUDBALLS

As if the storm didn't cause enough damage and hardship in the borough this weekend, vandals had to come through with their share of destructiveness.

The new West End school near Penn Village—not even completed yet—showed the scars yesterday of vandals "play."

At least nine new panes of glass in the front of the building were broken.

Eight of the panes were in windows in one of the front, first-floor rooms, and the other was in one of the doors in the front entrance.

THE VANDALS didn't even bother using snowballs. They used rocks and balls made of mud.

The evidence littered and splattered the newly linoleum-covered floors in the school.

George Zelenki, 607 Glasgow street, janitor, said the vandalism was committed sometime yesterday morning.

He said when he left the building Saturday night, everything was in good order. When he returned Sunday morning, he returned to broken windows.

This is the second time vandals have "hit" the new school, which should be opened next month.

The first time was several months ago when the "pranksters" busted an aluminum louver. On one other occasion, the vandals stole clothes and a watch from a shack used by workmen on the job.

Airport Hangars Struck by Near Hurricane Winds

Near hurricane winds flattened concrete-block hangar walls at Pottstown municipal airport Saturday morning.

The winds paid an uncompromising visit along with the whirling snow which turned on an unprepared populace for two frigid days.

The hangar walls are the beginning of a $16,000 project which will include a seven-unit nest of T-hangars.

Manager John J. Basco, who is financing the hangar project, was given the green light by council to build hangars at no cost to the borough, with a promise he would receive a 15-year lease on airport property.

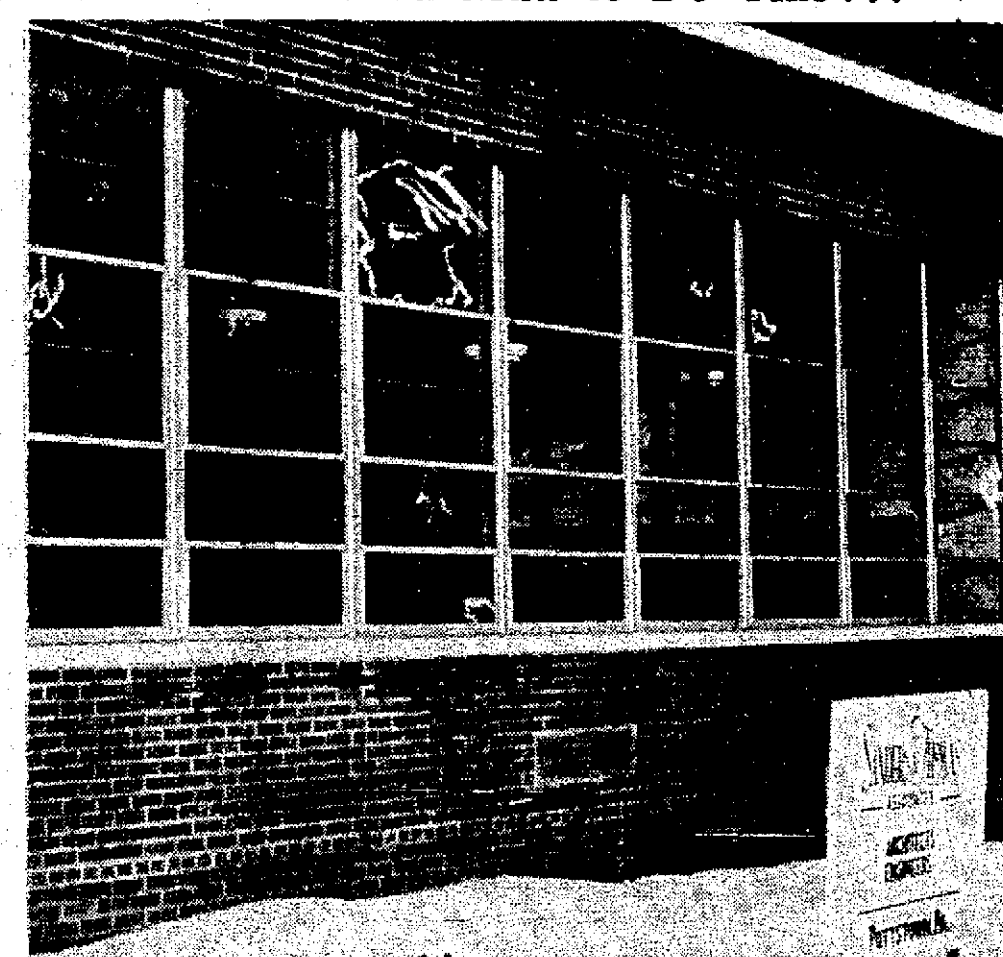

Basco originally had asked the borough to help finance the hangars at the airport.

SATURDAY'S storm has added to his financial difficulty. He has been unable to get a requested loan from borough banks.

The manager estimated damage at $400. A number of the blocks will be broken in the salvage operation.

Basco said he needs $3000 to (Continued on Page Six)

Harry Dexter White Harry Truman Atty. Gen. Brownell In Center of Controversy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, today challenged the Eisenhower Administration to let a grand jury investigate its charges that former President Truman promoted Harry Dexter White in the face of FBI reports that White was a Soviet spy.

Mitchell, speaking in the televised program "man of the week" (CBS), accused Attorney General Brownell of "low politics" in voicing the charge during a speech in Chicago Friday.

"The Republicans may have an armful of porcupines before they get through with this," Mitchell said. He predicted that the American people ultimately would recognize the speech as "a political smokescreen."

Brownell's speech, which has whipped up a bitter political fight, charged that Truman promoted White in 1946 from the post of assistant secretary of the Treasury to director of the International Monetary Fund, also under the Treasury, despite two FBI warnings that White was a spy.

WHITE DIED in 1948, a week after he went before the House un-American activities committee and denied testimony that he was a member of an "elite" group in the Communist apparatus.

Truman, who is enroute to New York by train from his home in Independence, Mo., has assailed Brownell's speech as political, and denied any recollection of such FBI warnings.

He said Brownell, if he believed the charges, should have been addressing a grand jury instead of a public audience. Brownell spoke before the Executive Club of Chicago.

"If someone took advantage of the (former) President of the United States in the charges about the dead Mr. White, those people ought to be prosecuted," Mitchell said.

"Either someone took advantage of Mr. Truman, or is it the suggestion that the President was furthering the interest of a foreign power (in promoting White and keeping him in the Government as a high-Treasury department aide)... or that he was part of a Communist activity?" Mitchell added, and said of Brownell, "let him go before a grand jury" with the evidence and get its answer.

Mitchell didn't make clear why he thought Brownell's speech might seem to the Republicans at some later date like an "armful of porcupines."

FBI REPORTS ARE MISSING

Major Gen. Harry Vaughan To Be Called Before Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—The rancor surrounding the Harry Dexter White case was pointed up yesterday when "Truman said at Kansas City he doesn't know where the purported FBI reports are now, but they should be in Brownell's files unless the attorney general has 'done away with them.'"

"He'll be sorry for that statement," Brownell rapped out when a reporter told him about it.

President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said a search of White House files disclosed no confidential napers left behind by Truman. Hagerty said it is customary for an outgoing President to take such files with him.

Truman said he would search his files to see whether he ever did get reports from the FBI on White. Brownell said two FBI warnings went to Truman via his then White House military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan.

VAUGHAN, who could not be reached today has been summoned for closed door questioning by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee Thursday.

That group, headed by Senator Jenner (R-Ind), quoted the past Summer from an unidentified intelligence agency's report which purportedly linked White with a Communist spy apparatus. The intelligence agency was widely believed to be the FBI, and the report said that the whole quoted document had been shown to Truman.

Truman in his Kansas City statement said that when he decided White was "wrong" he let him out of his Government job via the "resignation" route. He added that "it was never proven that White was a spy."

Police Press Search For Kidnap; Navy Gives Father Leave

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—Sailor Richard Duane Stammer, 20, and his wife Shirley, 18, whose five-month-old boy and a baby sister have been missing since Friday night, ran weeping into each other's arms at the Evansville airport today.

The red-eyed young wife came from a radio station where she had appealed to Wanda White, 26, the baby sitter, to put warmer clothing on Richard Jr.

Stammer, his neck crisscrossed with razor nicks, was given emergency leave Saturday night from the USS Northampton and flew home in an Eastern Airlines plane.

The moustached young sailor said, "I've been too nervous to sleep and too dried-up inside to eat."

He added he was thankful the news broke while his ship was docked in New York. He learned from an Associated Press reporter that the baby was missing.

"I'm a teletype operator and repairman," Stammer explained. "If we had been at sea, I would have seen the story in the course of my work."

The petite mother was wearing a black and red checked coat, the coat she had given as the reason she left the baby with Miss White. She said she was working at a drive-in restaurant, the Farmer's Daughter, to buy a new coat.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Kirby Stevens cancelled all leaves for Evansville's 30 city detectives and asserted they will work night and day until they find the baby sitter and the child.

INDIAN COMMAND CANCELS TALKS TO RED POWS

Repatriation Commission Invokes Get-Tough Policy

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Indian Command, acting swiftly under a new get-tough policy toward the Communists, last night canceled today's explanations to anti-Communist Chinese in a showdown over what prisoners should be interviewed.

A quick protest from the Reds was expected at 10 a. m. today (8 p. m. Sunday, Pottstown time) when the full Neutral Nations Repatriation commission (NNRC) was scheduled to meet.

The NNRC also was to consider a petition from an 11-man committee purporting to represent 22 Americans, one Briton and 332 South Koreans whom the Reds say refuse repatriation. The petitioners asked that incoming letters and periodicals be censored because the mail allegedly was being used to "intimidate, coerce, slander and bribe" the prisoners into going home.

Today, Allied and Communist negotiators start their third week of efforts to settle arrangements for convening the overdue Korean peace conference. Staff advisers were meeting in secret sessions to fix an agenda on the time, place and composition of the conference.

THE INDIAN-COMMUNIST dispute stemmed directly from the Red slowdown tactics in prisoner interviews which began the past Wednesday. On that day the Communists interviewed only half of a 500-man compound of anti-Communist Chinese—but never called the remainder back for interviews.

On Thursday the Reds "explained" to one-third of another compound, C22, and Friday morning demanded the remaining two-thirds for explanations.

The prisoners balked at marching out a second time and the Indians, both unwilling and unable to use force, canceled the explanations for that day.

In a press conference Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, chairman of the Repatriation commission, said the Reds would either have to see complete compounds in one day or else forget about those not interviewed by the end of the day. He said he lacked sufficient room to segregate the interviewed prisoners from those not interviewed.

CULVER CITY, Calif., Nov. 8 (AP)—Steve Cochran got tabbed for reckless driving today by a policeman who said he had to fire a warning shot to bring the actor's $8000 German car to a halt.

"I just wanted to show my friends how my new sports car would corner," police said Cochran explained.

Officer Roger Deveux said he chased Cochran five miles at speeds up to 65 miles an hour through heavy Sunday traffic. He quoted Cochran as saying, "You never would have caught me if you hadn't shot—that wasn't very fair."

With him were Sue Mortimore, 25, a model, and Air Force Sgt. Ralph S. Hodges, 24, friends he was taking to the harbor for a sail on his 27-foot ketch. Cochran posted bail of $325 on bookings of reckless driving.

Duel Challenge Issued Over Trieste Killings

ROME, Nov. 8 (AP)—A challenge to a duel with pistols was telegraphed to British Maj. Gen. Sir John Winterton in Trieste tonight by Odo Spadazzi, Monarchist member of the Chamber of Deputies.

The newspaper Il Tempo said Spadazzi issued the challenge because the Allied military commander directs Trieste police who the past week shot and killed six pro-Italian rioters.

ENVOY ARRIVES IN YUGOSLAVIA

US Ambassador Believes Solution of Trieste Issue Possible

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 8 (AP)—James Riddleberger, new US Ambassador to Yugoslavia, arrived here today and expressed confidence a peaceful and equitable solution can be found in the violent quarrel between this country and Italy over Trieste.

He declined to specify what he believed would constitute an equitable settlement.

"We all want to find a peaceful solution," he said in a statement at the railroad station. There he was met by Yugoslav foreign office officials, his Ambassador Philippe Boudet.

"Issues such as Trieste are never solved overnight," he said. "I have noted and welcome recent evidence that Yugoslavia is as we are, desirous of seeking a peaceful solution acceptable to all."

"I am confident that such a solution in this issue will be found. Co-operation between the Yugoslav Government and people and the American Government and people has been mutually beneficial."

"An equitable solution will contribute to the further development of the co-operation. I conceive of my mission to Yugoslavia in these terms."

MEANWHILE, there has been no disclosure here of the terms contained in a new Yugoslav proposal which Foreign Secretary Koca Popovic handed to British Ambassador Sir Ivo Mallet and American charge of affairs Woodruff Wallner Friday night.

There has been speculation that President Tito's Government may have proposed a pelibiscite for the port city of Trieste itself, giving permanent residents there a choice between either Italian or Yugoslav rule or a third alternative of internationalizing the city.

Weeping Mossadegh, Clad in Pajamas, Faces Court on Trial for His Life

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 8 (AP)—Weeping and railing at the British pajama-clad ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh went on trial today for his life. He is accused of defying the shah, trying to overthrow the monarchy, and illegally dissolving the Majlis (Parliament).

The ailing 73-year-old ousted dictator wore gray woolen pajamas and a gray bathrobe as he entered the courtroom in historic Mirror Palace of Saltanatabad barracks near Tehran. Mossadegh has long been suffering from a kidney ailment, and he frequently appeared to gasp for breath and be near collapse as he faced a five-man army court martial.

In contrast was his co-defendant, Gen. Taghi Riahi, Mossadegh's former chief of staff, who was nattily in black civilian clothes.

Despite his apparent weakness, the emotional Mossadegh vigorously challenged the authority of the court to try him and rang new charges on his old pet hate, Britain. He never deigned to mention the British by name, using instead his favorite phrase "our rival."

ENTERING the courtroom from the rear, Mossadegh's progress along the length of the aisle to his seat behind an old-fashioned schoolroom-type desk was a slow painful stagger rather than a walk. As he turned from the aisle leading to his seat, second from the end of the bench, he bumped his right hip on the back of the bench and almost fell to the floor. Court officials quickly gripped him under his armpits and held him upright until he could take his seat.

Of the mirrored chamber's 126 available seats, the first three rows were jammed with reporters, photographers and interpreters. In the area reserved for spectators, half the seats were empty.

Asked his name, Mossadegh replied sharply: "The legal prime minister."

"Maybe I, as a fool, know something which you do not know," he told the court. "Today, the whole world is anxiously waiting to see the result of this trial. They won't see how this court will vote. This is not an ordinary court. This is an important and extraordinary court."

"Our rival was defeated everywhere in the world. He could not pass sentence upon us. Our rival was defeated in the (UN) Security Council. Our rival was defeated in the international court. It is not advisable for you to permit the world to say that Iranian officers defeated the rival of our rival. Today, by your vote, you can serve the country and the nation."

He climaxed this statement with a burst of tears.

A few minutes later Mossadegh broke into loud weeping again and banged his fists on his desk as he accused the court prosecutor of serving illegally. Sitting down by special permission of the court chairman, he said of the prosecutor:

"This gentleman has come here illegally. You have arrested innocent people illegally. By God, they will die from cold. By God, they cannot tolerate prisons like this."

While the trial was proceeding inside, the lonely barracks in this desert land were ringed by bayoneted soldiers, armored cars, and tanks.

General Motors Plant Is Struck by Fire

DETROIT, Nov. 8 (AP)—Fire struck tonight at General Motors' automatic transmission division at Willow Run, where it was moved only a few weeks ago after a multi-million dollar fire leveled GM's Livonia transmission plant.

Within an hour after first reports, plant protection men told State police the blaze had been brought under control.

State police said they had reports, however, that "some persons" were injured.

A telephone operator at the plant told a caller: "Yes, we had a very bad fire."

No other details were immediately available.

The plant is some 30 miles west of Detroit.

ELECTION IS SET IN PHILIPPINES

Honest Balloting Promised By Both Candidates For President

MANILA, Monday, Nov. 9 (AP)—Both President Elpidio Quirino and his formidable rival, former Defense Secretary Ramon Magsaysay were confident of victory today as their torrid presidential race drew near a climax in tomorrow's election.

Liberal party headquarters claimed Quirino and his running mate, Jose Yulo, would win by 400,000 votes. But party President Eugenio Perez tempered the prediction by personally estimating a 300,000 majority.

The Nationalista-Democratic party coalition was riding on a high wave of optimism and its headquarters said Magsaysay would triumph by 1,500,000 votes. His running mate, Carlos P. Garcia, was given a 1,000,000 vote edge.

But while the opposing parties talked of victory, the Philippines estimated 5,450,000 voters waited expectantly to see whether the balloting would be honest and peaceful.

Quirino's election in 1949 still is challenged by his then-opponent, Jose P. Laurel, as dishonest.

Quirino scoffed at this. Further he promised, "I will not besmirch my coming victory with a dishonest election."

Carlos P. Romulo, former United Nations General Assembly president who has served as campaign manager for the Magsaysay coalition, says the 1949 election was so rotten it now affords some protection.

"Public opinion is aroused now," Romulo maintains. "They won't get away with it again."

Harry Dexter White

Harry Truman

Atty. Gen. Brownell

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Brownell's speech as political, and denied any recollection of such FBI warnings.

He said Brownell, if he believed the charges, should have been addressing a grand jury instead of a public audience. Brownell spoke before the Executive Club of Chicago.

"If someone took advantage of the (former) President of the United States in the charges about the dead Mr. White, those people ought to be prosecuted," Mitchell said.

"Either someone took advantage of Mr. Truman, or it is the suggestion that the President was furthering the interest of a foreign power (in promoting White and keeping him in the Government as a

FBI REPORTS ARE MISSING

Major Gen. Harry Vaughan To Be Called Before Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—The rancor surrounding the Harry Dexter White case was pointed up yesterday when Truman said at a news conference that he did not know where the FBI reports are now, but they should be in Brownell's files unless the attorney general has "done away with them."

"He'll be sorry for that statement," Brownell rapped out in a reported told him about it.

President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said a search of White House files disclosed no confidential papers left behind by Truman. Hagerty said it is customary for an outgoing President to take such files with him.

Truman said he would search his files to see whether he ever did get reports from the FBI on White. Brownell said two FBI warnings went to Truman via his then White House military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan.

Police Press Search For Kidnaper; Navy Gives Father Leave

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—Sailor Richard Duane Stammer, 20, and his wife Shirley, 18, whose five-month-old boy and a baby sitter have been missing since Friday night, ran weeping into each other's arms at the Evansville airport today.

The red-eyed young wife came from a radio station where she had appealed to Wanda White, 26, the baby sitter, to put warmer clothing on Richard Jr.

Stammer, his neck crisscrossed with razor nicks, was given emergency leave Saturday night from the USS Northampton and flew home in an Eastern Airlines plane.

The moustached young sailor said, "I've been too nervous to sleep and too dried-up inside to eat."

He added he was thankful the news broke while his ship was docked in New York. He learned from an Associated Press reporter that the baby was missing.

"I'm a teletype operator and repairman," Stammer explained. "If we had been at sea, I would have seen the story in the course of my work."

The petite mother was wearing a black and red checked coat, the coat she had given as the reason she left the baby with Miss White. She said she was working at a drive-in restaurant, the Farmer's Daughter, to buy a new coat.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Kirby Stevens cancelled all leaves for Evansville's 30 city detectives and asserted they will work night and day until they find the baby sitter and the child.

INDIAN COMMAND CANCELS TALKS TO RED POWS

Repatriation Commission Invokes Get-Tough Policy

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Indian Command, acting swiftly under a new get-tough policy toward the Communists, last night canceled today's explanations to anti-Communist Chinese in a showdown over what prisoners should be interviewed.

A quick protest from the Reds was expected at 10 a. m. today (8 p. m. Sunday, Pottstown time) when the full Neutral Nations Repatriation commission (NNRC) was scheduled to meet.

The NNRC also was to consider a petition from an 11-man committee purporting to represent 22 Americans, one Briton and 332 South Koreans whom the Reds say refuse repatriation. The petitioners asked that incoming letters and periodicals be censored because the mail allegedly was being used to "intimidate, coerce, slander and bribe" the prisoners into going home.

Today, Allied and Communist negotiators start their third week of efforts to settle arrangements for convening the overdue Korean peace conference. Staff advisers were meeting in secret sessions to fix an agenda on the time, place and composition of the conference.

THE INDIAN-COMMUNIST dispute stemmed directly from the Red slowdown tactics in prisoner interviews which began the past Wednesday. On that day the Communists interviewed only half of a 500-man compound of anti-Communist Chinese—but never called the remainder back for interviews.

On Thursday the Reds "explained" to one-third of another compound, C22, and Friday morning demanded the remaining two-thirds for explanations.

The prisoners balked at marching out a second time and the Indians, both unwilling and unable to use force, canceled the explanations for that day.

In a press conference Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, chairman of the Repatriation commission, said the Reds would either have to see complete compounds in one day or else forget about those not interviewed by the end of the day. He said he lacked sufficient room to segregate the interviewed prisoners from those not interviewed.

WITNESSES NAME 'KISSING BANDIT'

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Police said nine witnesses today identified an 18-year-old youth from Washington, Pa., as a member of a gang of "kissing bandits" who first robbed then stole kisses from their female victims.

Police said the youth held without charge is John L. Heer. He was returned Saturday from Washington.

Detective Patrick O'Connor said Heer admitted, after the identification, that he took part in several grocery store and tavern robberies with other members of the gang now in custody.

Heer told O'Connor that at two occasions he kissed his victims. He recalled, the detective said, the robbery of a woman of $3.50 in a tavern. After he kissed her, Heer said he returned the money.

SIEVE COCHRAN TABBED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

CULVER CITY, Calif., Nov. 8 (AP)—Steve Cochran got tabbed for reckless driving today by a policeman who said he had to fire a warning shot to bring the actor's $6000 German car to a halt.

"I just wanted to show my friends how my new sports car would corner," police said Cochran explained.

Officer Roger Deveau said he chased Cochran five miles at speeds up to 65 miles an hour through heavy Sunday traffic. He quoted Cochran as saying, "You never would have caught me if you hadn't shot—that wasn't very fair."

With him were Sue Mortimore, 25, a model, and Air Force Sgt. Ralph S. Hodges, 24, friends he was taking to the harbor for a sail on his 27-foot ketch. Cochran posted bail of $325 on bookings of reckless driving.

300 Attend Dedication of Zion's Chapel

Group Hears How Sunday School Best Serves Its Pupils

How can a Sunday school best serve its pupils?

A guest speaker discussed the question before 300 listeners who attended the dedication of the renovated chapel at Zion's Reformed church yesterday.

"The Sunday school can serve best by making use of faith, truth and the word of God," the Rev. Dr. Robert V. Moss, professor of New Testament science at Lancaster seminary, explained.

Speaking at the special service in the chapel, Dr. Moss pointed out that Sunday school workers today need a deeper faith than ever before.

He said that truth must be adhered to in the Sunday school to combat a "world filled with suspicion."

An intelligent use of God's Word is called for in Sunday school to meet the challenge of the times, he concluded.

The 9:15 a. m. service in the chapel was followed by services in the church, with the Rev. Howard A. Kosman, pastor, bringing the message.

IN THE AFTERNOON, from 3 o'clock to 5, the pastor and his wife held open house in the parsonage.

Tonight the congregation will hold a fellowship banquet in the new basement hall of the chapel.

Reservations have been made for 168 members and guests at the 6:30 o'clock dinner.

Yesterday's ceremonies and tonight's celebration mark the completion of work that was in progress for over a year.

Zion's renovation program has included improvements to all three buildings owned by the congregation. These are the church itself, the adjoining parsonage and the chapel.

Improvements to the chapel include a complete refurnishing of the Sunday school auditorium. New ceiling lights were installed, acoustic tile ceiling put up, and the walls and floor refinished.

MOST NOTICEABLE of the chapel improvements is the enclosed vestibule on Chestnut street.

Here the former entrance in the center of the building was walled up and a new entrance built at the side.

The new entrance leads both to the chapel auditorium and a new downstairs hall.

Formerly, the chapel had no basement. This additional room was provided by excavating under the building and rebuilding the foundation.

In the new basement are class and social rooms for pupils and parishioners.

Also provided is a modern kitchen.

The church, built in 1794, is the oldest in Pottstown. It was the original home of Emmanuel Lutheran and Trinity Reformed congregations.

Here the improvements include a rebuilt organ and a fresh coat of exterior paint.

THE PARSONAGE, on Chestnut street between the two other buildings, was refinished inside and redecorated.

On the renovation program committee were Leonard A. Huff, chairman; Charles I. Suot, Stanley L. Emery, Donald B. Hawthorne, George K. Cannell and Willis E. Bridgman.

The dedication program committee included Stanley Emery, chairman; Leonard A. Huff, Harold D. Scheffey, Charles I. Suot, Willis E. Bridgman, Donald B. Hawthorne, George K. Cannell, Joyce Eschbach and Clyde E. Roshon.

Company Stresses Racial Equality in Employment

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A company policy of racial equality in employment, practiced by International Harvester in both the South and the North, has been hailed by a church race relations expert as "an honest effort by this company to translate democratic principles into the area of human relations in industry."

The Rev. Alfred S. Kramer, associate director of the National Council of Churches' department of racial and cultural relations, noted that only a few industries in the South are racially integrated.

International Harvester's policy of no racial discrimination in employment has been reported as working well in three major company plants in southern communities, in a study of Negro employment in the South sponsored by the National Planning Association Committee of the South.

150 Brave Elements For Revival Meeting

Braving slippery streets, 150 worshippers gathered for a revival meeting at the Church of the Nazarene, Fifth and Washington streets, Pottstown, last night.

The Rev. Robert E. Zollinhofer, pastor, preached on "Baptism of the Holy Ghost" at the meeting to open a week-long revival series.

Unusual music was presented by Walter and Merle Cresswell, Hopewell, Va., who sang and played the electric accordion and electric guitar.

Tonight the Rev. Zollinhofer will speak on the theme "If I Had but One Sermon to Preach."

The pastor and the singing evangelists will appear at each of the meetings, which begin at 7:45 p. m.

Publishing Records Set by Bible Sales

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Revised Standard Version of the Bible has broken all sales records in the book publishing business since its historic publication one year ago, and still remains on the nation's bestseller book lists after 48 consecutive weeks. By selling close to 2,500,000 copies during the past 12 months, the Revised Bible has achieved a record sales figure for all time unequalled by any other book in US publishing history—fiction or non-fiction.

Commemorating the first anniversary of the authorized Protestant version of the Bible, William R. McCulley, president of Thomas Nelson and Sons, pointed out that if the two-and-a-half million Revised Bibles sold were placed side by side, they would fill a bookshelf 60 miles long.

Thomas Nelson and Sons published the book, which was prepared under auspices of the National Council of Churches' Division of Christian Education.

Since 1925, the average life of the average US motor vehicle when scrapped has increased from 6.5 years to 14 years and the average mileage from 25,750 to 121,000.

300 Attend Dedication of Zion's Chapel Pottstown's Church Calendar

Group Hears How Sunday School Best Serves Its Pupils

How can a Sunday school best serve its pupils?

A guest speaker discussed the question before 300 listeners who attended the dedication of the renovated chapel at Zion's Reformed church yesterday.

"The Sunday school can serve best by making use of faith, truth and the word of God," the Rev. Dr. Robert V. Moss, professor of New Testament science at Lancaster seminary, explained.

Speaking at the special service in the chapel, Dr. Moss pointed out that Sunday school workers today need a deeper faith than ever before.

He said that truth must be adhered to in the Sunday school to combat a "world filled with suspicion."

An intelligent use of God's Word is called for in Sunday school to meet the challenge of the times, he concluded.

The 9:15 a. m. service in the chapel was followed by services in the church, with the Rev. Howard A. Kosman, pastor, bringing the message.

IN THE AFTERNOON, from 3 o'clock to 5, the pastor and his wife held open house in the parsonage.

Tonight the congregation will hold a fellowship banquet in the new basement hall of the chapel.

Reservations have been made for 168 members and guests at the 6:30 o'clock dinner.

Yesterday's ceremonies and tonight's celebration mark the completion of work that was in progress for over a year.

Zion's renovation program has included improvements to all three buildings owned by the congregation. These are the church itself, the adjoining parsonage and the chapel.

Improvements to the chapel include a complete refurnishing of the Sunday school auditorium. New ceiling lights were installed, acoustical tile ceiling put up, and the walls and floor refinished.

MOST NOTICEABLE of the chapel improvements is the enclosed vestibule on Chestnut street.

Here the former entrance in the center of the building was walled up and a new entrance built at the side.

The new entrance leads both to the chapel auditorium and a new downstairs hall.

Formerly, the chapel had no basement. This additional room was provided by excavating under the building and rebuilding the foundation.

In the new basement are class and social rooms for pupils and parishioners.

Also provided is a modern kitchen.

The church, built in 1794, is the oldest in Pottstown. It was the original home of Emmanuel Lutheran and Trinity Reformed congregations.

Here the improvements include a rebuilt organ and a fresh coat of exterior paint.

On the renovation program committee were Leonard A. Huff, chairman; Charles I. Stout, Stanley L. Emery, Donald B. Hawthorne, George K. Cannell and Willis E. Bridgman.

Strong reasons make strong actions. — William Shakespeare, King John.

Blessed Friendly Spirit

It is better to light one candle than curse the darkness.
Certainly, the weekend's astonishing fall of snow inconvenienced many persons.
But did you notice how it brought out neighborliness? That was a blessed feature, when men went to the aid of his neighbor, showed love and helpfulness for persons he didn't know, never saw before and probably may never see again.
Truly that is the charity that blesses, the kind that's done from the heart without thought of great ballyhoo or publicity or even thanks. It was twice blessed. It blessed those who gave and those who received.
It was heart-warming to see this friendliness and neighborliness long before daylight light up a cold, snowy morning. In Pottstown the man of the house was out in the cold, high drifts, helping to shovel out his neighbor so he could go to work.
On street corners, where motorists and trucks were stuck in deep snow runs, where they couldn't get traction in the soft snow, volunteers stood with shovels ready to lend a hand. Persons living along the street brought out ashes and cinders. Some came to the rescue with pieces of carpet, and cardboard to place under skidding wheels to aid stuck motorists pull away from deep curbs.

Friendliness went lots further. Men who on every other day of the year were too hurried to notice pedestrians standing on streets corners and walking to work, stopped their cars and shouted: "May I please give you a lift?" "Are you going my way?" "May I please help."
Yes, it was a blessed day. All the fussing and fuming of a few was drowned out by the kind deeds of the many. Maybe it was a Heavenly test. If so, Pottstown came through with flying colors.

Oh, The Mercury had its minor troubles, too, but all the inconveniences were erased by the consideration of the reading public. This forbearance was gratifying. Persons knew The Mercury was as snowbound as they were. They didn't expect Mercury carriers to get into country roads; they couldn't travel.
When it became apparent Friday afternoon that a blizzard was on its way, The Mercury's editorial staff was alerted to get out an "early" paper. The mechanical force strove valiantly to print the newspaper an hour before regular deadline time to give the rural carriers a chance to break through the heavy drifts.
This decision to go to press earlier paid off, because five of The Mercury's printers were snowbound, couldn't get to the plant. Several editorial men who live out of Pottstown also were stuck, so that superhuman effort by the remaining men was needed to make the deadlines.

But the real trouble developed early Saturday morning. Two of The Mercury's rural carriers, who deliver the paper by motorcar, weren't even able to get away from their rural residences. Three others braved the drifts, only to get stuck time and time again, requiring towing services. But they tenaciously clung to their jobs and delivered the paper, even if by afternoon.
All the city carriers, as the Pottstown deliveries are designated, got their bundles early and every delivery in town and suburbs was made. This meant 10,703 of The Mercury's "city" subscribers got their papers as early as they'd get it on a clear day.

But what of the nardy men who deliver the other 11,218 papers of The Mercury's vast 21,921 circulation to rural districts?
There was Douglas Hale, for instance, who got stuck on Harmonyville road on Star Route when he tried to come into The Mercury to pick up his paper load. His subscribers on Pottstown RD 4 routes were patient, knew he couldn't do the impossible. Hale finally got a farmer with a tractor to dig him out of a drift.

John Peterman Jr., who lives at Boyertown RD 1, couldn't get away from his garage. Miles D. Smith, who carries a vast route in Boyertown, Bally Engleville, Pine Forge, etc., was stuck several times, once for hours in New Berlinville.

Arlen Troutman, of Pottsgrove Manor, who has a long route into Norristown, Evansburg, Skippack, Creamery, etc., needed professional tow-truck and to help him after a breakdown in Collegeville.
And so it went. But all showed the indomitable spirit that made famous the phrase that "neither snow, nor sleet, nor gloom of night stay these swift messengers from their appointed rounds."

They pleased their customers and their subscribers were good sports for their forbearance in the time of need.
Yes, the Pottstown area is a friendly area, a neighborly area. The best place on earth to live!

PUNKIN CORNERS, November 8.
Editor, The Mercury,
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where a Texas sheriff has ordered his deputies to stop wearing their high-heeled cowboy boots because they don't jibe with their city clothes. This ought to make the Lone Ranger lonelier than ever.

Natives of Finland report sighting a whistling meteor but fail to report the tune it was whistling. Can I guess: "The Wild Blue Yonder?"
And say: An amateur after-dinner speaker is one who worries before breakfast about what he's going to say.
Hopin' you air the same,

Urges Concerted Efforts Against Snow

Urges Common Action

To the Editor: This recent snow storm has proven to me that there is need for better co-ordinated snow removal and cinderling activities among towns and townships.
For instance, on Route 663, North Charlotte street, just beyond the Pottstown border—for hours that section was in dire need of attention. Many cars were stranded. It was very fortunate there were no bad accidents there.

Why couldn't the various townships and boroughs get together and plan some concerted action against emergencies such as arose during and after the storm?

Certain well-known bad areas—North Charlotte street, Sanatoga hill, etc.—would receive immediate attention to relieve the situation.

Then other areas that are rated according to lesser importance would receive attention in that order.

Thus many hours of wasted effort need not be expended.

Also I seldom see any really big equipment on the job. Perhaps the Pottsgroves and Pottstown could get together and buy a few big pieces of equipment for common use.

Why can't there be a neighborly feeling among various sections? Where is the friendliness for each other's neighbor that existed during our pioneering days?

Pottstown READER

Her Daily Prayer

To the Editor: I miss the bells for peace that used to ring in Pottstown every noon. It is so easy for complacent people to forget.

But now my faith has been renewed

when every noon I hear the chimes at Trinity Reformed church at North Hanover and Kings streets.

With the love I have for my own family, for my neighbors, for all of us, with the deepest plea of God's mercy, I pray when I hear the chimes:
"May it be Thy Holy Will, dear God, to spare us and protect us from wars and bombings. Bless us with peace, and forgive us our sins, Stay with us always."

I hope everyone, as they hear the chimes, will appeal to God and ask His blessings and protection.
Pottstown D. H.

Way to Accidents

To the Editor: I have observed many drivers with one hand on the wheel, the other hanging out the window the car. Naturally these folks think they have the car under control but in an emergency they are not ready to act fast enough.

Every person acquires a driving habit, and for me it is natural, and comfortable, to have both hands on the wheel, and I suppose others think they can drive with one hand and feel more comfortable in doing so, but I believe for safety sake they owe it to themselves, and others, to correct this dangerous habit.
Pottstown CAREFUL

There's No Telling

To the Editor: What is a law abiding citizen to do?

We are not supposed to go faster than 35 mph in the city limits.

We are supposed to drive in one lane as much as possible and yet I have been cursed at because I would not go faster than the legal limit or pull out of a lane

so some 50-mile-per-hour guys could save two minutes of their time which I doubt was worth more than $40 per week.

Maybe the police department should mark one lane 30 mph and the other lanes 50.
Pottstown HELEN HAPPY

He's Seeing Red

To the Editor: Nothing in our modern life is as irritating as stoplights which hold up a long line of rush-hour traffic.

Somehow Pottstown can't adjust them for jammed traffic, even though nobody is going down the intersection.

This frustration can drive one crazy, waiting!

I sometimes think that if we had a few less red lights we'd have a few less light Reds.
Pottstown DRIVER

Only Half Told Tale

To the Editor: Not all the tales of Hal-lowe'en vandalism got to be printed in your paper. Like Walter Winchell says: The city editor of Pottstown ought to check the report that 22 windows were broken in one house.

Go ahead and get that story!

Speed Sign Gone

To the Editor: What happened to that speed trap warning sign on North Keim street at the borough line?

For a number of weeks it stood there with a huge hole through the center of it. Then just recently it disappeared altogether.

Is this a symbol of the lack of proper conducting of the borough speed trap?

Military Considerations Block Peace Talks

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 — President Eisenhower's opposition to Prime Minister Churchill's latest suggestion for a high-level conference on world peace with the Kremlin is based on military rather than diplomatic considerations. It is, perhaps, the most dramatic example of the effect of Ike's professional background on his behavior as a civilian chief executive.

Eisenhower feels, and he has the silent support of the World War II commanders in Britain and France, that the West should not enter into any negotiations with Moscow until NATO's defensive power has been strengthened, and until Paris and London join with the German Republic's Government in ratifying the treaty for a European Defense Community.

When these accomplishments show that the democratic nations have finally mobilized their resources, and solved their internal differences over the contributions, the command and the commitments of their troops, their ships, their airplanes and their atomic weapons, Eisenhower believes that it will be the opportune and strategic moment to sit across the table from Malenkov and Molotov, assuming that they are still alive and active at the Kremlin.

Then, and then only, in White House opinion, will the Western Allies possess the ultimate argument to which the Soviet Bullies respond—strength!

THE DIPLOMATS in Europe, as represented by Churchill, and Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, are less patient than Eisenhower, although they sometimes substitute the word, "stubborn," to characterize the American President's mood.

Living nearer to the possible field of battle, and recalling vividly their sacrifices and suffering from invasion and bombing in two conflicts, they are under pressure from the people, the press and the politicians to sound out the prospect for an enduring peace with the Reds.

Churchill, a n d Bidault, who have not abandoned their hope of converting like to their viewpoint, have advanced seemingly logical arguments in the trans-Atlantic conversations of the past few weeks.
The two Europeans have told Eisenhower that, in forthcoming elections and parliamentary tests, the Anglo-French people and politicians will be more likely to favor NATO and a common defense force, if further talks with the Russians prove useless. Whereas they now hold back for fear of higher taxes and military burdens, another hysterical hassle with the Reds—like those in Korea today—might prod them into all-out rearmament.

THUS, ALTHOUGH NONE of the participants in these preliminary discussions will admit it openly, the principal difference consists of timing. The military insists on delay for the reasons listed here, while the politicians want an immediate showdown.

AN IDEAL SPEECH formula is this:

- (1) Pick out your text or general topic for discussion. Suppose it is "How to Carry on Interesting Conversation."
- (2) Then illustrate it with stories that are relevant but which advance your central theme steadily toward your climax.

Here you can insert personal examples, or mention some of the cases which you have read in this psychology column that pertain to your topic.

(3) Then conclude your address with a punchy terminal sentence or two. This conclusion might contain a repetition of your speech title so the audience knows you are neatly "wrapping up" the idea.

If you can open and close your talk with an appropriate quotation from some famous person, past or present, that will add scholarly richness or "oomph" to your address.

Miss Midnight's Notebook

Autographs of Rita Gam and Patrice Munsel now ought to be collectors' items for reasons having nothing to do with their professional prominence.

The girls are rarer than truffles at the Automat, and anyone who was present at Earl Blackwell's recent Gotham dinner party can prove it.

During the main course chit-chat it developed that neither Rita nor Patrice knew anything at all about the Arthur Godfrey-Julius LaRosa rhu-barb, and the other guests stared at them as if they had just announced they'd never heard of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

TRUE, BOTH beautiful brunettes returned only recently from Europe (Rita had been in Germany making "Night People" with Gregory Peck, and Patrice tolled for months in Rome) but their frankly admitted ignorance of the biggest TV fireworks display of the year still was astonishing for a couple of reasons.

One, Rita's husband, Sidney Lumet, is a director with the network involved.

Two, Patrice appeared to be thoroughly briefed on the far less exciting news about her alma mater, the Metropolitan Opera, and its snooty parting with Helen Traubel.

THE STARS around US: Charles Boyer, the most magnetic male in the Cub Room, bestowing That Voice and Those Eyes on half a dozen lucky belles (including Marlene) at Table 50 . . . Gorgeous George-less Zsa Zsa gorging on sirloin at the Pen and Pencil, just a few hours after she was given the matrimonial brush-off from spouse Sanders. (Just to prove a Gabor can lose a husband without losing her appetite!)

Mary Pickford making her dainty way up Fifth avenue—looking decades younger than most of the dowagers who "remember her when I was just a little girl" . . . Peggy Ann Garner, accepting a huge florist's box at the Hotel Wyndham desk, dazedly murmuring, "I didn't know men DID things like this any more!"

Genuine man of distinction at "21": Tall white-haired and elegant Herbert Bayard Swore . . . Schiaparelli, surrounded by sirloins at one of New York's most famous steak houses, dining simply and solely and rather sadly on nothing but broccoli. A new switch on Fashion Is Spinach?)

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CALVIN G. is a high school Senior.

"Dr. Crane, I'm taking a course in public speaking," he began.

"I know it will be very helpful to me in later life, but I am so nervous that my hands shake and I feel hot all over whenever the time draws near for me to take the platform."

"Besides, I find it hard to remember what I want to say, even though I memorize my talk, word for word."

"So what advice can you give me so I will be calm as a cucumber?"

NO TALENTED platform artist is "calm as a cucumber" when he mounts the platform.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8—Speculation as to who will play the Admiral in "Bridges of Toko-Ri," the paramount picture soon to star Bill Holden, is ended. Spencer Tracy, Walter Pidgeon, Humphrey Bogart—even director Bill Wellman (who thought it was a gag when he was offered the part) are among the males who have been mentioned. Frederic March today signed for the key role. Only others (aside from Holden and March) cast to date are Mickey Rooney and Robert Strauss. The latter being well-remembered for his work in "Stalag, 17." . . . Customers at Ciro's last night got an eyeful of Carol Brewster walking out of the place ALONE at midnight—leaving her date, Sonny Tufts sitting at table to cry into his beer or whatever it was he was imbibing. . . . DICK HAYMES isn't the only singer with money problems, albeit his are monumental compared to what happened to John Carroll in a Los Angeles court today. His former vocal coach, Pierre de Caillaux, is suing him for $1200. . . . Sorry to report that Ken Tobey and his wife of several years, Penny Parks, have separated. . . . SHEREE NORTH, the ex-chorus girl who scored in Broadway's "Hazel Flagg," then returned to Hollywood as one of the leads in the now shooting Martin and Lewis picture, broke a foot while doing a dance number yesterday—and will be unable to work for weeks. I haven't referred to this opus of Dean and Jerry's by any title lately for the simple reason that at the moment the film is without one. Paramount is still trying to clear the rights to "Living It Up," but I understand the studio will have to pick a new handle. By the way, did you know Dean Martin's ex-wife, Betty lives less than a block from where Dean and Jeanne Martin are ensconced in Beverly Hills? Betty has custody of the four children fathered by Dean—and all agree this makes it easier for Martin to see his kids almost every day—which he does. He also "sees" his two youngsters by Jeanne—and nobody can say Dean Martin is at a loss for "the patter of little feet!"

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OVER A 25 year period, cancer of the lung has grown from a relatively rare disease to one of the most common tumor growths.

It is believed that there is actually an increased incidence of the disease rather than just more accurate diagnosis. Improved diagnostic methods have brought to light more cases, but they cannot entirely account for the great increase of the disease.

Many studies have been conducted to find some factor in our general environment that may be causing this increase in cancer of the lung.

Though lung cancer can be treated by surgical procedure, a real cure cannot be found without knowledge of what is causing the disease. It is in an effort to pin down the growth cause that various studies have been made.

We have known for a long time that certain substances can cause and increase the growth of cancer. Many of the common factors that have been suggested as reasons for this increase are the tar from roads and exhaust fumes of motor cars.

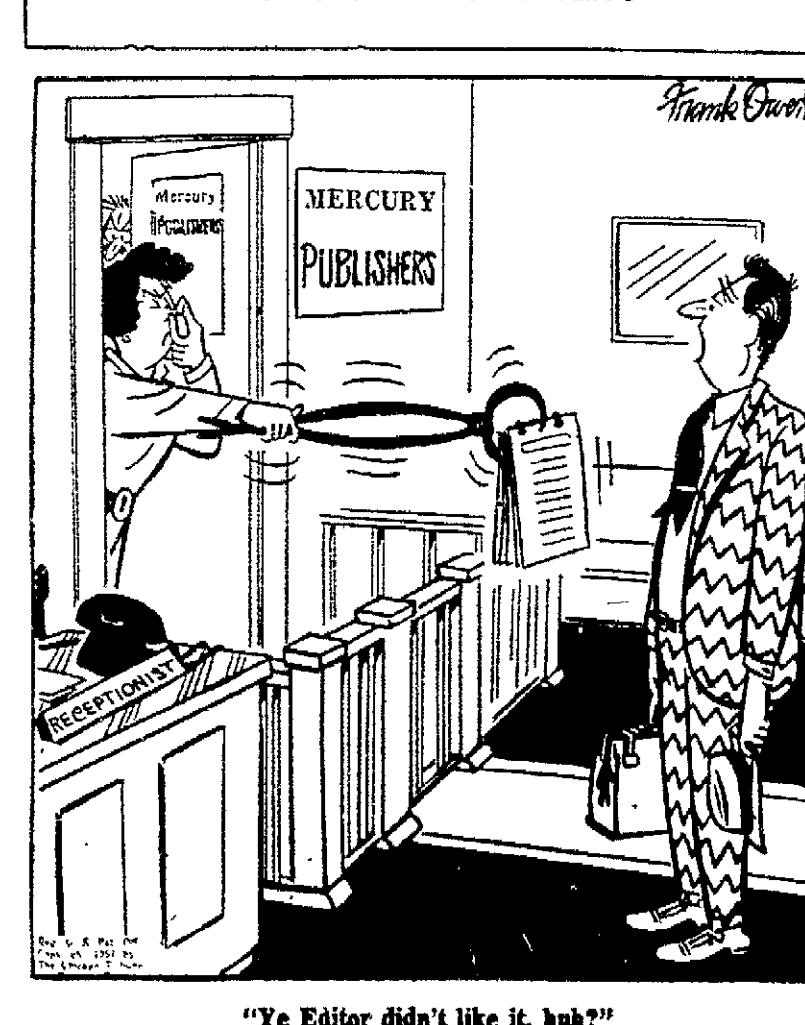

However, it is not likely that these are the causes, since lung cancers are just as prevalent in the wide open spaces as where motor cars and roads are common.

It has been found that the incidence of cancer is most prevalent in certain types of occupational groups. It is more commonly found in miners who are exposed to dusts, such as cobalt, bismuth, nickel, and arsenic, and in those dealing with radioactive dusts.

Recently, a group of one hundred persons suffering from definitely proven cases of cancer of the lung were studied in comparison to one hundred persons who did not have the disease.

It was found that there was no appreciable difference in their exposure to various dusts, fumes, and smokes, and that cancer was not too much greater in those living in industrial areas than those living in country areas.

Strong reasons make strong actions. — William Shakespeare, King John.

Blessed Friendly Spirit

It is better to light one candle than curse the darkness.
Certainly, the weekend's astonishing fall of snow inconvenienced many persons.
But did you notice how it brought out neighborliness? That was a blessed feature, when man went to the aid of his neighbor, showed love and helpfulness for persons he didn't know, never saw before and probably may never see again.

Truly that is the charity that blesses, the kind that's done from the heart without thought of great ballyhoo or publicity or even thanks. It was twice blessed. It blessed those who gave and those who received.

It was heart-warming to see this friendliness and neighborliness long before daylight light up a cold, snowy morning. In Pottstown the man of the house was out in the cold, high drifts, helping to shovel out his neighbor so he could go to work.

On street corners, where motorists and trucks were stuck in deep snow runs, where they couldn't get traction in the soft snow, volunteers stood with shovels ready to lend a hand. Persons living along the street brought out ashes and cinders. Some came to the rescue with pieces of carpet, and cardboard to place under skidding wheels to aid stuck motorists pull away from deep curbs.

Friendliness went lots further. Men who on every other day of the year were too hurried to notice pedestrians standing on streets corners and walking to work, stopped their cars and shouted: "May I please give you a lift?" "Are you going my way?" "May I please help?"

Yes, it was a blessed day. All the fussing and fuming of a few was drowned out by the kind deeds of the many. Maybe it was a Heavenly test. If so, Pottstown came through with flying colors.

Oh, The Mercury had its minor troubles, too, but all the inconveniences were erased by the consideration of the reading public. This forbearance was gratifying. Persons knew The Mercury was as snowbound as they were. They didn't expect Mercury carriers to get into country roads; they couldn't travel.

When it became apparent Friday afternoon that a blizzard was on its way, The Mercury's editorial staff was alerted to get out an "early" paper. The mechanical force strove valiantly to print the newspaper an hour before regular deadline time to give the rural carriers a chance to break through the heavy drifts.

This decision to go to press earlier paid off, because five of The Mercury's printers were snowbound, couldn't get to the plant. Several editorial men who live out of Pottstown also were stuck, so that superhuman effort by the remaining men was needed to make the deadlines.

But the real trouble developed early Saturday morning. Two of The Mercury's rural carriers, who deliver the paper by motorcar, weren't even able to get away from their rural residences. Three others braved the drifts, only to get stuck time and time again, requiring towing services. But they tenaciously clung to their jobs and delivered the paper, even if by afternoon.

All the city carriers, as the Pottstown deliveries are designated, got their bundles early and every delivery in town and suburbs was made. This meant 10,703 of The Mercury's "city" subscribers got their papers as early as they'd get it on a clear day.

But what of the nardy men who deliver the other 11,218 papers of The Mercury's vast 21,921 circulation to rural districts?

There was Douglas Hale, for instance, who got stuck on Harmonyville road on Star Route when he tried to come into The Mercury to pick up his paper load. His subscribers on Pottstown RD 4 routes were patient, knew he couldn't do the impossible. Hale finally got a farmer with a tractor to dig him out of a drift.

John Peterman Jr., who lives at Boyertown RD 1, couldn't get away from his garage. Miles D. Smith, who carries a vast route in Boyertown, Bally Engleville, Pine Forge, etc., was stuck several times, once for hours in New Berlinville.

Arlen Troutman, of Pottsgrove Manor, who has a long route into Norristown, Evansburg, Skippack, Creamery, etc., needed professional tow-truck aid to help him after a breakdown in Collegeville.

And so it went. But all showed the indomitable spirit that made famous the phrase that "neither snow, nor sleet, nor gloom of night stay these swift messengers from their appointed rounds."

They pleased their customers. And their subscribers were good sports for their forbearance in the time of need.

Yes, the Pottstown area is a friendly area, a neighborly area. The best place on earth to live!

READERS SAY:

Urges Concerted Efforts Against Snow

Urges Common Action

To the Editor: This recent snow storm has proven to me that there is need for better co-ordinated snow removal and cinder activities among towns and townships.

For instance, on Route 663, North Charlotte street, just beyond the Pottstown border—for hours that section was in dire need of attention. Many cars were stranded. It was very fortunate there were no bad accidents there.

Why couldn't the various townships and boroughs get together and plan some concerted action against emergencies such as arose during and after the storm?

Certain well-known bad areas—North Charlotte street, Sanatoga hill, etc.—would receive immediate attention to relieve the situation.
Then other areas that are rated according to lesser importance would receive attention in that order.

Thus many hours of wasted effort need not be expended.
Also I seldom see any really big equipment on the job. Perhaps the Pottsgroves and Pottstowns could get together and buy a few big pieces of equipment for common use.

Why can't there be a neighborly feeling among various sections? Where is the friendliness for each other's neighbor that existed during our pioneering days?

Pottstown READER

Her Daily Prayer

To the Editor: I miss the bells for peace that used to ring in Pottstown every noon. It is so easy for complacent people to forget.

But now my faith has been renewed

when every noon I hear the chimes at Trinity Reformed church at North Hanover and Kings streets.

With the love I have for my own family, for my neighbors, for all of us, with the deepest plea of God's mercy, I pray when I hear the chimes:

"May it be Thy Holy Will, dear God, to spare us and protect us from wars and bombings. Bless us with peace, and forgive us our sins, Stay with us always."

I hope everyone, as they hear the chimes, will appeal to God and ask His blessings and protection.

Way to Accidents

To the Editor: I have observed many drivers with one hand on the wheel, the other hanging out the window the car. Naturally these folks think they have the car under control but in an emergency they are not ready to act fast enough.

Every person acquires a driving habit, and for me it is natural, and comfortable, to have both hands on the wheel, and I suppose others think they can drive with one hand and feel more comfortable in doing so, but I believe for safety sake they owe it to themselves, and others, to correct this dangerous habit.

CAREFUL

There's No Telling

To the Editor: What is a law abiding citizen to do?

We are not supposed to go faster than 35 mph in the city limits.

We are supposed to drive in one lane as much as possible and yet I have been cursed at because I would not go faster than the legal limit or pull out of a lane

Miss Midnight's Notebook

Autographs of Rita Gam and Patrice Munsel now ought to be collectors' items for reasons having nothing to do with their professional prominence.

The girls are rarer than truffles at the Automat, and anyone who was present at Earl Blackwell's recent Gotham dinner party can prove it.

During the main course chit-chat it developed that neither Rita nor Patrice knew anything at all about the Arthur Godfrey-Julius LaRosa rhu-barb, and the other guests stared at them as if they had just announced they'd never heard of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Zsa Zsa Gabor

TRUE, BOTH beautiful brunettes returned only recently from Europe (Rita had been in Germany making "Night People" with Gregory Peck, and Patrice toiled for months in Rome) but their frankly admitted ignorance of the biggest TV fireworks display of the year still was astonishing for a couple of reasons.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CALVIN G. is a high school Senior.

"Dr. Crane, I'm taking a course in public speaking," he began.

"I know it will be very helpful to me in later life, but I am so nervous that my hands shake and I feel hot all over whenever the time draws near for me to take the platform."

"Besides, I find it hard to remember what I want to say, even though I memorize my talk, word for word."

"So what advice can you give me so I will be calm as a cucumber?"

NO TALENTED platform artist is "calm as a cucumber" when he mounts the platform.

If he were, his words wouldn't flow smoothly. For it is nervous tension which speeds up the heart and thus furnishes a better blood supply to the brain.

Our thoughts then percolate faster and we are more alert. So you amateur speakers can be grateful you are jittery. All professional performers are likewise keyed up before an important address.

But you can avoid showing your excessive nervousness if you will hold your hands behind your back at the start. Or clasp the edges of the pedestal.

And if you have no pedestal in front of you, but must hold your notes or sheet music, then previously mount those pages on a cardboard background to avoid their rattling unduly.

Another bit of clever strategy is to hold the sheet of paper with both hands and then pull gently in opposite directions. This will instantly make your hands lose their tremor.

AN IDEAL SPEECH formula is this:

(1) Pick out your text or general topic for discussion. Suppose it is "How to Carry on Interesting Conversation."

(2) Then illustrate it with stories that are relevant but which advance your central theme steadily toward your climax.

Here you can insert personal examples, or mention some of the cases which you have read in this psychology column that pertain to your topic.

(3) Then conclude your address with a punchy terminal sentence or two. This conclusion might contain a repetition of your speech title so the audience knows you are neatly "wrapping up" the idea.

If you can open and close your talk with an appropriate quotation from some famous person, past or present, that will add scholarly richness or "oomph" to your address.

so some 50-mile-per-hour guys could save two minutes of their time which I doubt was worth more than $40 per week.

Maybe the police department should mark one lane 30 mph and the other lanes 50.

He's Seeing Red

To the Editor: Nothing in our modern life is as irritating as stoplights which hold up a long line of rush-hour traffic.

Somehow Pottstown can't adjust them for jammed traffic, even though nobody is going down the intersection.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OVER A 25 year period, cancer of the lung has grown from a relatively rare disease to one of the most common tumor growths.

It is believed that there is actually an increased incidence of the disease rather than just more accurate diagnosis. Improved diagnostic methods have brought to light more cases, but they cannot entirely account for the great increase of the disease.

Many studies have been conducted to find some factor in our general environment that may be causing this increase in cancer of the lung.

Though lung cancer can be treated by surgical procedure, a real cure cannot be found without knowledge of what is causing the disease. It is in an effort to pin down the growth cause that various studies have been made.

We have known for a long time that certain substances can cause and increase the growth of cancer. Many of the common factors that have been suggested as reasons for this increase are the tar from roads and exhaust fumes of motor cars.

However, it is not likely that these are the causes, since lung cancers are just as prevalent in the wide open spaces as where motor cars and roads are common.

It has been found that the incidence of cancer is most prevalent in certain types of occupational groups. It is more commonly found in miners who are exposed to dusts, such as cobalt, bismuth, nickel, and arsenic, and in those dealing with radioactive dusts.

Recently, a group of one hundred persons suffering from definitely proven cases of cancer of the lung were studied in comparison to one hundred persons who did not have the disease.

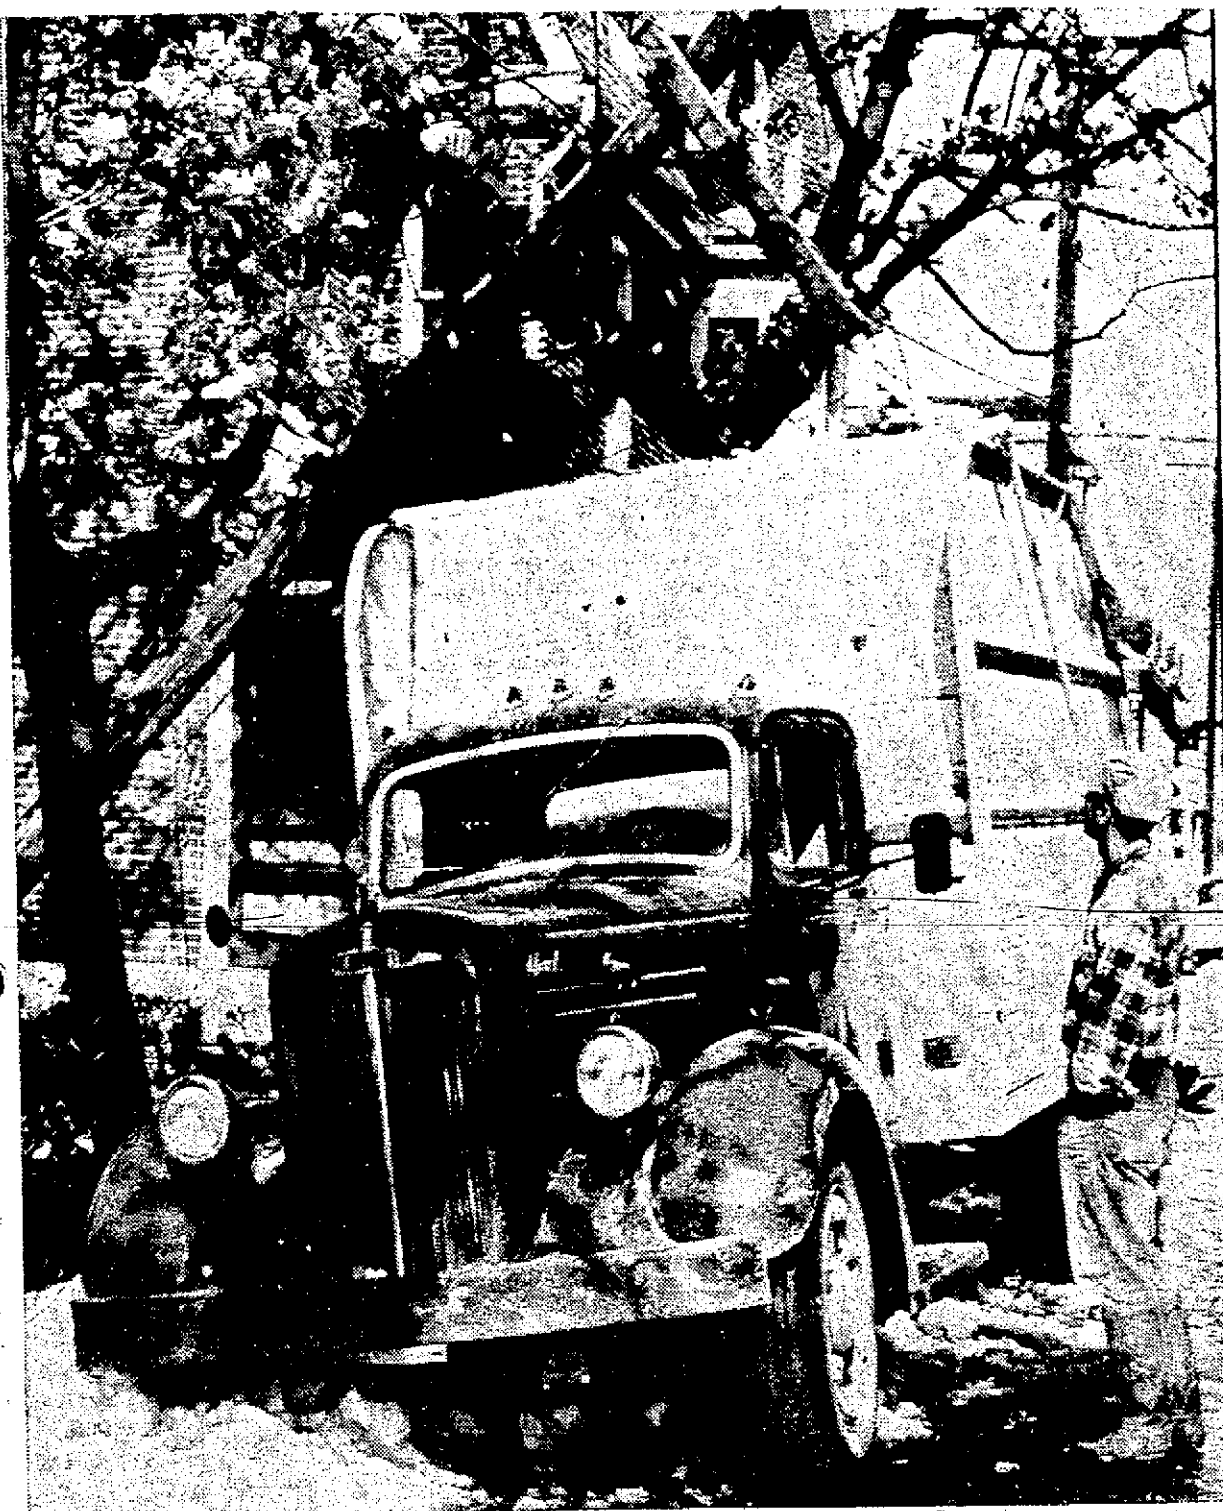

It was found that there was no appreciable difference in their exposure to various dusts, fumes, and smokes, and that cancer was not too much greater in those living in industrial areas than those living in country areas.

Sperat Is Re-elected Local Lodge Head

President John Sperat and all other officers of the Maria Assunta lodge unanimously were re-elected at a meeting yesterday morning attended by 76 members in the lodge rooms.

Sperat awarded Jerry Ottaviano, past president for 20 years, a gold membership card for faithful service and made him an honorary president.

BABY'S BLOOD —

RH factor. The rest have a positive RH factor.

When negatives and positives marry there is a chance the baby will develop an RH factor opposite to the mother's.

When this happens, according to a doctor who, for professional reasons wished his name withheld, the mother, during pregnancy is passing off "toxic" or "poisonous" substances into the child's blood. ("The words 'toxic' and 'poisonous' are in quotes because they are not being used in their normal sense: merely to express the situation more clearly. Actually, the mother passes on an anti-substance.")

This substance must be taken out of the blood immediately to reduce the chance of later permanent injury to the child.

By pumping new blood into the child and taking the "old" blood out, the amount of unwanted anti-substance is diluted until it is no longer harmful.

The chance of a baby developing such an "opposite" RH factor is about 200-to-1 against him.

"In most cases," the doctor said, "an RH difficulty is not noticed until the child is about three or four days old. In this case, however, we noticed it after he was 25 hours old."

"We noticed, at that time, that the child was jaundiced. Babies don't usually become jaundiced until after they're two days old. We made tests at Memorial and discovered that the RH difficulty existed."

THERE ARE two methods of one method is by repeated transfusions of blood. In this method, the baby will be given four or five transfusions over a period ranging anywhere from three days to three months.

This method has been used for the past six years.

The other method is that described above, the one used on the Galloway baby, called "exchange transfusion method."

This method has been used for about the past three years.

"We could have done the exchange here," the doctor said, "but naturally, the safest and best way is to send the baby where this kind of work is being done all the time."

Sometimes the "operation" performed on the Galloway baby can take up to three or four hours. But as the doctor in Philadelphia hospital said:

"We are getting better at the method as we go along. We find it's better to do the work faster—not too fast, of course—but a little quicker."

The chances are extremely high, according to the doctor, that the child will weather the "blood change" without any effects whatsoever.

"And when you send them to the Children's hospital as we did," the doctor went on, "the chances are even much better in favor of the child's perfect recovery."

Driving the Good Will ambulance from Pottstown to Philadelphia was Ed Seeders, with the infant's father holding the baby.

The report from Memorial hospital last night was that the tot's mother, Elizabeth Galloway, was doing fine.

TOWN DIGS OUT —

minor, shifted through although both State and local police were unable to catalog most of the "fender" jobs.

The two utility companies, the Bell Telephone and Philadelphia Electric, both reported only minor damage.

The borough highway men were out all day Saturday in "digging out" operations.

Highway Foreman Runyan said that ten men worked Friday night until 9 o'clock.

On Saturday, the crew spent the whole day, working with one grader and several trucks, pushing snow into the streets away from gutters, clandering intersections.

"We did a lot of 'helping' too," the foremen said. "We helped a lot of people get stalled cars clear."

"People were terrific. Everybody pitched in. Everybody realized it was such a sudden thing that everybody had to pitch in and do his share."

In one of the accidents in the borough yesterday, a garbage truck knocked down a utility pole and a transformer at Washington and Chestnut streets.

Amazingly, no one was injured, although the felled transformer carried 4000 volts.

The accident occurred at 11:20 a. m. The truck, owned by Donald Woodley, borough garbage collector, was driven by John G. Overly, Quakertown.

Overly told police he was driving south on North Washington street when he hit a snow bank on the west side of the street.

The bank pulled him over and to avoid hitting a car traveling towards him he pulled towards the right.

The pole was snapped and the transformer felled. Philadelphia Electric company men replaced the pole and transformer yesterday afternoon.

IN ANOTHER accident yesterday morning, Herbert O. Cruise, 81 South Keim street, escaped injury when his car went into a skid on Manatwiny street, near Beech street, and crashed into a utility pole.

The whole right side of the car was damaged but the pole stayed up.

State police of Jeffersonville substitution were the only ones to report an accident.

That one took place on Route 422 near Collegeville. Two cars collided, one operated by John Salamone, 28, Norristown, and the other by Larry Brown, 17, Collegeville.

The Salamone car was damaged to the extent of $500 and the second car was damaged to the tune of $400. No one was injured.

ANOTHER accident in the borough itself nearly caused serious damage.

The heavy wooden awning over the Benz Drug store windows collapsed during the storm Saturday and cracked one of the windows on the Hanover street side. The store is located at High and Hanover streets.

Luckily, no one was under it at the time.

Throughout the day yesterday, State, county and local township highway crews were working overtime clearing roads.

By last night, most township roads, with the exception of the more remote, were cleared, even though in many cases it involved battling ten-foot high drifts.

Most communities were caught with their snow-fences down, which resulted in many of the drift-covered roads.

But as many natives said, including not a few weather experts throughout the State and whole Eastern seaboard, "Who could have expected such a storm?"

The prediction for today wasn't too cheerful, either, although yesterday was a perfect day.

Says the weatherman, "Some cloudiness today with high between 45 and 50 and a chance of rain or sleet."

The rain would help wash away the rest of the white stuff but sleet would add to the still treacherous driving conditions reported by State police of Reading, Paoli and Jeffersonville barracks last night.

Modern brass is an alloy mostly of copper and zinc, although in early times it referred to the alloy of copper and tin which we call bronze.

DELIVERY MEN ARE HIT HARD BY FREAK STORM

Public Servants Toil Overtime to Fulfill Duties

Among hardest hit by the freak snowstorm that began Friday were rural delivery men.

Mail men, bread truck drivers, newspaper delivery men and milkmen piled on the overtime to accommodate their patrons.

Drivers of the Schulz Baking company, many of whom were stalled and ditched Friday, continued on the job yesterday.

Rural delivery men who remained at the borough postoffice Saturday, took to the roads yesterday in an effort to deliver all mail. In rare cases mail pickups were missed.

Mercury rural carriers who were unable to reach patrons Saturday stayed on the job yesterday. More than 95 percent of all subscribers received Saturday's storm edition.

Gordon B. Galloway, route foreman for the Schulz Baking company, was stranded for more than seven hours in Royersford early Saturday.

He was heading for the Montgomery County home at Black Rock.

Driver Charles McConnell left early Saturday for his route in rural Chester county and wasn't able to return until yesterday.

AMMON Schoot, special delivery man spent Saturday night at Emberville, near Downingtown. He, too, returned yesterday.

Galloway and Meral E. Cox yesterday made a number of deliveries through the county.

All of the 11 wholesale and 48 retail drivers had their troubles.

The half dozen drivers for the Swavely dairies were hours overdue in Saturday deliveries. David Lloyd, Pottstown RD 1, didn't return until 11 o'clock Saturday night.

All of the dozen delivery men for the Clover Leaf dairy firm got through, but they were late.

Not only rural mail carriers had it tough. Borough carriers had all the work they could handle. Men who were out on annual leave or had scheduled days off reported for work.

Postmaster J. Alfred Marquet thanked the public for their courtesy in calling the postoffice and warning rural carriers of the treacherous conditions of country roads.

Sperat Is Re-elected Local Lodge Head

President John Sperat and all other officers of the Maria Assunta lodge unanimously were re-elected at a meeting yesterday morning attended by 76 members in the lodge rooms.

Sperat awarded Jerry Ottaviano, past president for 20 years, a gold membership card for faithful service and made him an honorary president.

RH factor. The rest have a positive RH factor.

When negatives and positives marry there is a chance the baby will develop an RH factor opposite to the mother's.

When this happens, according to a doctor who, for professional reasons wished his name withheld, the mother, during pregnancy is passing off "toxic" or "poisonous" substances into the child's blood.

("The words 'toxic' and 'poisonous' are in quotes because they are not being used in their normal sense; merely to express the situation more clearly. Actually, the mother passes on an anti-substance.")

This substance must be taken out of the blood immediately to reduce the chance of later permanent injury to the child.

By pumping new blood into the child and taking the "old" blood out, the amount of unwanted anti-substance is diluted until it is no longer harmful.

The chance of a baby developing such an "opposite" RH factor is about 200-to-1 against him.

"In most cases," the doctor said, "an RH difficulty is not noticed until the child is about three or four days old. In this case, however, we noticed it after he was 25 hours old."

"We noticed, at that time, that the child was jaundiced. Babies don't usually become jaundiced until after they're two days old. We made tests at Memorial and discovered that the RH difficulty existed."

THERE ARE two methods of One method is by repeated trans-fusion of blood, he explained. fusions. In this method, the baby will be given four or five trans-fusions over a period ranging anywhere from three days to three months.

This method has been used for the past six years.

The other method is that described above, the one used on the Galloway baby, called "exchange transfusion method."

This method has been used for about the past three years.

"We could have done the exchange here," the doctor said, "but naturally, the safest and best way is to send the baby where this kind of work is being done all the time."

Sometimes the "operation" performed on the Galloway baby can take up to three or four hours. But as the doctor in Philadelphia hospital said:

"We are getting better at the method as we go along. We find it's better to do the work faster—not too fast, of course—but a little quicker."

The chances are extremely high, according to the doctor, that the child will weather the "blood change" without any effects whatsoever.

"And when you send them to the Children's hospital as we did," the doctor went on, "the chances are even much better in favor of the child's perfect recovery."

Driving the Good Will ambulance from Pottstown to Philadelphia was Ed Seeders, with the infant's father holding the baby.

The report from Memorial hospital last night was that the tot's mother, Elizabeth Galloway, was doing fine.

minor, shifted through although both State and local police were unable to catalog most of the "fender" jobs.

The two utility companies, the Bell Telephone and Philadelphia Electric, both reported only minor damage.

The borough highway men were out all day Saturday in "digging out" operations.

Highway Foreman Runyan said that ten men worked Friday night until 9 o'clock.

On Saturday, the crew spent the whole day, working with one grader and several trucks, pushing snow into the streets away from gutters, cinderling intersections.

"We did a lot of 'helping' too," the foreman said. "We helped a lot of people get stalled cars clear."

"People were terrific. Everybody pitched in. Everybody realized it was such a sudden thing that everybody had to pitch in and do his share."

In one of the accidents in the borough yesterday, a garbage truck knocked down a utility pole and a transformer at Washington and Chestnut streets.

Amazingly, no one was injured, although the felled transformer carried 4000 volts.

The accident occurred at 11:20 a. m. The truck, owned by Donald Woodley, borough garbage collector, was driven by John G. Overly, Quakertown.

Overly told police he was driving south on North Washington street when he hit a snow bank on the west side of the street.

The bank pulled him over and to avoid hitting a car traveling towards him he pulled towards the right.

The pole was snapped and the transformer felled. Philadelphia Electric company men replaced the pole and transformer yesterday afternoon.

IN ANOTHER accident yesterday morning, Herbert O. Cruise, 81 South Keim street, escaped injury when his car went into a skid on Manatwamy street, near Beech street, and crashed into a utility pole.

The whole right side of the car was damaged but the pole stayed up.

State police of Jeffersonville substitution were the only ones to report an accident.

That one took place on Route 422 near Collegeville. Two cars collided, one operated by John Salamone, 28, Norristown, and the other by Larry Brown, 17, Collegeville.

The Salamone car was damaged to the extent of $500 and the second car was damaged to the tune of $400. No one was injured.

ANOTHER accident in the borough itself nearly caused serious damage.

The heavy wooden awning over the Bentz Drug store windows collapsed during the storm Saturday and cracked one of the windows on the Hanover street side. The store is located at High and Hanover streets.

Luckily, no one was under it at the time.

Throughout the day yesterday, State, county and local township highway crews were working overtime clearing roads.

By last night, most township roads, with the exception of the more remote, were cleared, even though in many cases it involved battling ten-foot high drifts.

Most communities were caught with their snow-fences down, which resulted in many of the drift-covered roads.

But as many natives said, including not a few weather experts throughout the State and whole Eastern seaboard, "Who could have expected such a storm?"

The prediction for today wasn't too cheerful, either, although yesterday was a perfect day.

Says the weatherman, "Some cloudiness today with high between 45 and 50 and a chance of rain or sleet."

The rain would help wash away the rest of the white stuff but sleet would add to the still treacherous driving conditions reported by State police of Reading, Paoli and Jeffersonville barracks last night.

DELIVERY MEN ARE HIT HARD BY FREAK STORM

Public Servants Toil Overtime to Fulfill Duties

Among hardest hit by the freak snowstorm that began Friday were rural delivery men.

Mail men, bread truck drivers, newspaper delivery men and milk men piled on the overtime to accommodate their patrons.

Drivers of the Schulz Baking company, many of whom were stalled and ditched Friday, continued on the job yesterday.

Rural delivery men who remained at the borough postoffice Saturday, took to the roads yesterday in an effort to deliver all mail. In rare cases mail pickups were missed.

Mercury rural carriers who were unable to reach patrons Saturday stayed on the job yesterday. More than 95 percent of all subscribers received Saturday's storm edition.

Gordon B. Galloway, route foreman for the Schulz Baking company, was stranded for more than seven hours in Royersford early Saturday.

He was heading for the Montgomery County home at Black Rock.

Driver Charles McConnell left early Saturday for his route in rural Chester county and wasn't able to return until yesterday.

AMMON Schoot, special delivery man spent Saturday night at Emberville, near Downingtown. He, too, returned yesterday.

Galloway and Meral E. Cox yesterday made a number of deliveries through the county.

All of the 11 wholesale and 48 retail drivers had their troubles.

The half dozen drivers for the Swavely dairies were hours overdue in Saturday deliveries. David Lloyd, Pottstown RD 1, didn't return until 11 o'clock Saturday night.

All of the dozen delivery men for the Clover Leaf dairy firm got through, but all were late.

Not only rural mail carriers had it tough. Borough carriers had all the work they could handle. Men who were out on annual leave or had scheduled days off reported for work.

Postmaster J. Alfred Marquet thanked the public for their courtesy in calling the postoffice and warning rural carriers of the treacherous conditions of country roads.

for four Boyertown area men and a Pottstonian, but it was a long haul through the snow to get there.

The hunters went to Tioga county, near Wellsboro, on Thursday and stayed overnight in their cabin.

It was snowing Friday, but they went out anyway and each man bagged the limit (one piece) of turkeys in the snow.

They stayed overnight again, but this time when they awoke they found they had to dig themselves out—an all-day job.

The five men who have well-earned their forthcoming turkey dinner are:

C. Kenneth Miller, Arthur Dierker, Paul Houpp and Raymond Haser, Boyertown RD2, and Jack Hetrick, Pottstown RD 4.

Ten Pottstown women who had planned to attend a Communion breakfast at St. Francis retreat, near Bethlehem, on Saturday had to postpone their trip.

Because of the snow on the highways, the women abandoned the journey, which they were to make by automobile.

Later in the day one of the local women, Mrs. Angelo Paladino, received a call from the mother superior at the retreat saying the meeting had been postponed until late this month.

The meeting will include a planning session for future retreats. The local women belong to the promoters of the gatherings.

The snow stranded lots of vehicles, but where there's a will (and a strong back) there's a way, and so it was with the Reed Coal company.

Stanley F. Kijek, owner, and Leo Grace, an employee, delivered three tons of coal in 100-pound bags.

The work was carried on Friday night, all day Saturday and some yesterday.

"We packed six or seven bags in the back of the car and delivered wherever we could; families with sick persons were first on the list," said Kijek.

Someone once said that good comes from evil, and the pupils of East Coventry Consolidated school, Parkerford, might agree.

Today, at any rate, they certainly would. They'll have the day off because of poor road conditions. Tuesday, it's back to school, however.

It was bad traveling all over, and that included the men who deliver the gasoline to the service stations.

The Buckwalter and Shaw Esso Servicenter, High and Adams streets, had to wait some for the delivery of 4500 gallons of gasoline.

The scheduled refill was made yesterday, instead of Friday night.

"We had enough on hand, though, to keep going, so we were okay," commented Harold Buckwalter.

Some things in life are inevitable, and when a wedding is scheduled, that's one of them.

There were three on tap in the Pottstown area this weekend, and according to all reports, they went off as the script showed.

Along the roads and at service stations in town, the demand for chains, anti-freeze, snow tires and such items was tremendous.

Stanley Horosky of Horosky's service station, South and Hanover streets, commented that "people just weren't prepared for this—they didn't know what hit them."

"We sold out our supply of chains and had dozens of customers for all kinds of winter equipment," he said.

At Bill Lamoreaux's service station the word was:

"We sold out of almost all our winter items, and ran out of gasoline Saturday, but a big supply came in yesterday and we made it all right."

Milk from the farms was delayed in arriving, and in some cases didn't arrive at all, but a high percentage was delivered, according to the Clover Leaf and Levegood dairies.

"All but five of our 30 farmers were able to get their milk in," said Walter Grow of the Clover Leaf dairy.

"That was on Friday, and those who couldn't get through then brought it in Saturday: this was an exceptionally good performance on their part, I believe," he added.

George Saurman, assistant manager, and Charles Egolf, state license receiving man, of the Levegood dairy, reported that 61 of the 67 farmers who supply them were able to send their milk in.

Some of them didn't finish delivering on Saturday until 3 p. m., when usually they have finished the delivery part of their routes by 10 a. m., they said.

"We were late getting in, but it was a fine job by everyone concerned in getting the milk to us," Saurman said.

Church and Sunday school attendance was off as much as half in some Pottstown churches yesterday.

Slippery streets, slush-filled gutters and front yards full of snow got the blame.

"If anybody didn't feel like attending services, they had a ready-made excuse this week," one pastor observed.

But the weather was fine for church-going.

"I guess people who sleep late didn't realize what a fine morning it was," another pastor commented.

He was probably right—they were still living the horrors of Friday and Saturday in their dreams.

Fairly good attendance was reported by the Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor of Trinity Reformed.

"We had 85 percent of our volunteers for the visitation program on hand," he said.

The Rev. Martin J. Brinton, pastor of First Methodist, said that church and Sunday school attendance there were "definitely affected" by the snow on the ground.

Quite a few area doctors — especially in the country — were snow-bound, but fortunately there were no serious reports because of a doctor's inability to reach his patient.

Dr. Harvey W. Scholl of East Greenville reported that he was unable to get through on the Green Lane to Natic road. A 90-year-old woman had caught her finger in a door recently and the dressing had to be changed, he said.

Dr. Scholl solved that problem by telephoning the family and telling them how to change the dressing and said he would see her today.

"Fortunately, it wasn't too serious," he said.

Dr. Thomas W. Tucker, Spring City reported that everything had gone smoothly with the exception of one call outside of Royersford that he was unable to make.

Dr. Stanley Nowacki, of Bally, spent his working hours in Pottstown Friday and then found he couldn't reach home.

Dr. J. G. Shade, of Sassamansville, was snowed in Friday night and couldn't reach his Pottstown office Saturday.

The same was true of Dr. Robert Linn, near Harmonyville, and Dr. David D. Detar, who lives between Sassamansville and Bechtelsville.

Dr. Herbert William Barron, a resident of Collegeville, left Pottstown early Friday and also could not return Saturday.

In the Pughtown section, Dr. Arthur F. Mann was snowed in but managed to get out at 6 a. m. yesterday for a maternity case at Pottstown hospital.

Pughtown residents were still digging out of the snowdrifts yesterday—and looking for a friendly snowplow.

"Among farmers in that area who were practically isolated over the weekend were Lewis Lupold, and Thomas M. Emery, both of Chester Springs RD 2.

Mrs. Adam Holowis, also of Chester Springs RD 1, said the snow piled up in two-foot drifts near her house.

"Our baker's truck driver, A. F. Malenke, Jr., from Parkerford, didn't get here until this morning (Sunday)," she said. "He usually comes on Saturday afternoon."

He was the first visitor to reach her place from the outside world after the storm, she remarked.

Motorists and truck drivers who got stuck on Black Horse hill, Route 100, late Friday had the whole night to think about their plight.

And what they thought was "Oh for a horse to pull us up Black Horse hill."

But horses never seem so scarce as at a time like that.

So a couple of dozen drivers spent the night dozing in their cold cabs while the blizzard swirled against the windows.

They didn't start moving until help came on Saturday morning.

Charles Favinger, Pottstown RD 1, driver for Columbia Boiler company, was one of those who sat it out on the slippery hill, he revealed yesterday.

Paul D. Lederach, maintenance supervisor for the Montgomery county department of highways, last night reported all of the county-maintained 85 miles of highway passable.

One of the toughest assignments of county snow removal crews was the clogged and slippery Swamp pike from Limerick to Gilbertsville.

By 6 o'clock Saturday night ploughs had forged their way over the 8-mile span.

Route 73, also in the upper end of the county, gave county crews a battle.

The State reported last night most of the 900 miles of road maintained by the Commonwealth in the county passable.

Crews for the State and county remained at work last night.

DOG PERISHES —

Chester "Stubby."

They bought the little dog for their 2-year-old daughter, Sherry, nine months ago.

Schwenksville firemen wore gas masks when they entered the smoke-filled home.

Chief Russell Krupp reported the fire was brought under control with two booster lines.

FIREMEN attacked flame with fog nozzles to cut down on water damage.

The floor and walls in the apartment living room were charred.

Apartment damage was estimated at $1500.

Owner Daniel A. Yates Jr., who lives on the Centennial avenue property reported the apartment was insured and added, "I'll begin repair work as soon as I contact the insurance company and get a couple of estimates."

Miller's furniture loss (not covered by insurance) was estimated at $750.

Firemen believe the fire started from a smoldering cigarette in a stuffed chair in the living room.

Lower Frederick firemen, summoned to the scene as a precautionary measure, were not pressed into action.

The fire was under control in a half hour, but members of the Schwenksville company remained on the job for an hour and 10 minutes.

The modern apartment was built adjacent to a barn on the Yates property. It includes a bedroom, living room, kitchen and bath.

The Millers, who were given temporary quarters with in-laws, were not home when the fire broke out.

nately do better than this!

So he started taking the organ apart.

He discovered that two holes had been chewed through the bellows. And on further examination he found about two pounds of dog food inside.

"All crumbled up," he said.

How long this rat had been successfully thieving from the small dog Kopecho keeps in the recreation room no one can say.

"Hasn't the dog been getting skinnier?" Kopecho was asked.

"He hasn't been getting any fatter," was the retort.

But the dog, whose name is got stuck on Black Horse hill, Tita, hasn't lodged a single complaint. And no wonder. The dog whole night to think about their plight.

You'd probably feel ashamed too if you were a rat-terrier and were being terrier-ized by a rat.

age.

"He came into work puffing like the dickens," one of them said.

"and we told him to sit down and take it easy."

He worked for a few minutes and then told the others:

"I don't believe I'll be able to make the Pottstown trip today."

"Then he clutched at his side and fell to the floor; he was gone before the ambulance arrived," one worker related.

It was the second tragic and sudden death in the family within the past two-and-a-half years. Albert A. Adamski, brother of John, was killed July 8, 1951 when he fell into the Earlville Quarry.

The accident occurred a few minutes after his car crashed on Route 562 while he and his wife were on their way to Reading. Adamski fell 60 feet into the quarry while searching in the dark for his wife, who had been thrown from the car and injured seriously.

John Adamski was well-known in this area, where he was captain of the baseball, football and basketball teams in Pottstown Junior High school and a former employee of the Bethlehem Steel company.

THE HUSKY 6-foot one-inch 215-pounder also served two hitches in the Army for a total of four years and three months. He was in the infantry during World War II and also served for a period after he was graduated from Junior High school.

His mother, Mrs. Daisy (Guest) Adamski Wolfe, was suffering from great shock, but she filled in some of her son's early history.

"He always was interested in sports—he would play ball all the time—and later he went in the Army," she said.

"He was born in Chester during World War I, and a few months later we moved to Pottstown, where we've been ever since," she added.

"He lived here until he was married, 13 years ago."

Adamski had been at his present job about 8½ years and was district manager of the baking company. He came to work here directly from employment with the steel company.

At the time of his death, he was loading a truck preparatory to coming to Pottstown to fill in for a week for J. Garrett Prutzman, retailer of the baking company's products.

PRUTZMAN HAD intended to enter the hospital for observation, but postponed the entry when he heard of the death. It was a truck of Prutzman's that Adamski was helping load when he was stricken.

Adamski was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran church, Reading, the Pikeville Rod and Gun club, and the Ninth Ward Social club.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Helen (Phillips) Adamski and a 12-year-old daughter, Janice; two sisters, Mrs. Stein and Marion, wife of Pierce Ripka, 541 Lincoln avenue.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1 p. m. from the Henninger Funeral home, 229 North Fifth street, Reading. The Rev. Maynard C. Hallock, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church will officiate. Interment will be in Forest Hills Memorial park, Reading.

drifts up to four feet clogged travel.

On South Keim street, past the farm of Harry Bickel, drifts nearly ten feet high were slowly and tediously bucked aside by the bulldozer.

Most of the township's 35 miles of highway had felt the tread of the 'dozer by late last night, but State roads remained for the most part full of snow.

A number of residents were unable to get to shop on Saturday or to attend church yesterday.

Yocum asserted, "We'll work to clear up and tomorrow to get this, especially not this early in the season. It was positively the 'worst.'"

School Schedule Cleared

Paul H. Grim, supervising principal of North Coventry schools, said last night that he expected school buses in that section to be back on schedule today.

"We had some trouble getting the pupils home on Friday," he explained. "Some didn't get home until after 5 p. m."

The English discovered a method of casting crucible steel in 1740 and was able to use it and keep it secret from manufacturers in other countries for 60 years.

for four Boyertown area men and a Pottstownian, but it was a long haul through the snow to get there.

The hunters went to Tioga county, near Wellsboro, on Thursday and stayed overnight in their cabin.

It was snowing Friday, but they went out anyway and each man bagged the limit (one apiece) of turkeys in the snow.

They stayed overnight again, but this time when they awoke they found they had to dig themselves out—an all-day job.

C. Kenneth Miller, Arthur Diener, Paul Houpp and Raymond Haser, Boyertown RD2, and Jack Hetrick, Pottstown RD 4.

Ten Pottstown women who had planned to attend a Communion breakfast at St. Francis retreat, near Bethlehem, on Saturday had to postpone their trip.

Because of the snow on the highways, the women abandoned the journey, which they were to make by automobile.

Later in the day one of the local women, Mrs. Angelo Paladino, received a call from the mother superior at the retreat saying the meeting had been postponed until late this month.

The meeting will include a planning session for future retreats. The local women belong to the promoters of the gatherings.

The snow stranded lots of vehicles, but where there's a will (and a strong back) there's a way, and so it was with the Reed Coal company.

Stanley F. Kijek, owner, and Leo Grace, an employee, delivered three tons of coal in 100-pound bags.

The work was carried on Friday night, all day Saturday and some yesterday.

"We packed six or seven bags in the back of the car and delivered wherever we could; families with sick persons were first on the list," said Kijek.

Someone once said that good comes from evil, and the pupils of East Coventry Consolidated school, Parkerford, might agree.

Today, at any rate, they certainly would. They'll have the day off because of poor road conditions. Tuesday, it's back to school, however.

It was bad traveling all over, and that included the men who deliver the gasoline to the service stations.

The Buckwalter and Shaw Esso Servicenter, High and Adams streets, had to wait some for the delivery of 4500 gallons of gasoline.

The scheduled refill was made yesterday, instead of Friday night.

"We had enough on hand, though, to keep going, so we were okay," commented Harold Buckwalter.

Some things in life are inevitable, and when a wedding is scheduled, that's one of them.

There were three on tap in the Pottstown area this weekend, and according to all reports, they went off as the script showed.

Along the roads and at service stations in town, the demand for chains, anti-freeze, snow tires and such items was tremendous.

Stanley Horosky of Horosky's service station, South and Hanover streets, commented that "people just weren't prepared for this—they didn't know what hit them."

"We sold out our supply of chains and had dozens of customers for all kinds of winter equipment," he said.

At Bill Lamoreaux's service station the word was:

"We sold out of almost all our winter items, and ran out of gasoline Saturday, but a big supply came in yesterday and we made it all right."

Milk from the farms was delayed in arriving, and in some cases didn't arrive at all, but a high percentage was delivered, according to the Clover Leaf and Levegood dairies.

"All but five of our 30 farmers were able to get their milk in," said Walter Grow of the Clover Leaf dairy.

"That was on Friday, and those who couldn't get through then brought it in Saturday; this was an exceptionally good performance on their part, I believe," he added.

George Saurman, assistant manager, and Charles Egoft, state license receiving man, of the Levegood dairy, reported that 61 of the 67 farmers who supply them were able to send their milk in.

Some of them didn't finish delivering on Saturday until 3 p. m., when usually they have finished the delivery part of their routes by 10 a. m., they said.

"We were late getting in, but it was a fine job by everyone concerned in getting the milk to us," Saurman said.

Church and Sunday school attendance was off as much as half in some Pottstown churches yesterday.

Slippery streets, slush-filled gutters and front yards full of snow got the blame.

"If anybody didn't feel like attending services, they had a ready-made excuse this week," one pastor observed.

But the weather was fine for church-going.

"I guess people who sleep late didn't realize what a fine morning it was," another pastor commented.

He was probably right—they were still living the horrors of Friday and Saturday in their dreams.

Fairly good attendance was reported by the Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor of Trinity Reformed.

"We had 85 percent of our volunteers for the visitation program on hand," he said.

The Rev. Martin J. Brinton, pastor of First Methodist, said that church and Sunday school attendance there were "definitely affected" by the snow on the ground.

Quite a few area doctors—especially in the country—were snow-bound, but fortunately there were no serious reports because of a doctor's inability to reach his patient.

Dr. Harvey W. Scholl of East Greenville reported that he was unable to get through on the Green Lane to Natick road. A 90-year-old woman had caught her finger in a door recently and the dressing had to be changed, he said.

Dr. Scholl solved that problem by telephoning the family and telling them how to change the dressing and said he would see her today.

"Fortunately, it wasn't too serious," he said.

Dr. Thomas W. Tucker, Spring City reported that everything had gone smoothly with the exception of one call outside of Royersford that he was unable to make.

Dr. Stanley Nowacki, of Bally, spent his working hours in Pottstown Friday and then found he couldn't reach home.

Dr. J. G. Shade, of Sassamansville, was snowed in Friday night and couldn't reach his Pottstown office Saturday.

The same was true of Dr. Robert Linn, near Harmonyville, and Dr. David D. Detar, who lives between Sassamansville and Bechtelsville.

Dr. Herbert William Barron, a resident of Collegeville, left Pottstown early Friday and also could not return Saturday.

In the Pughtown section, Dr. Arthur F. Mann was snowed in but managed to get out at 6 a. m. yesterday for a maternity case at Pottstown hospital.

Pughtown residents were still digging out of the snowdrifts yesterday—and looking for a friendly snowplow.

Among farmers in that area who were practically isolated over the weekend were Lewis Lupold, and Thomas M. Emery, both of Chester Springs RD 2.

Mrs. Adam Holowis, also of Chester Springs RD 1, said the snow piled up in two-foot drifts near her house.

"Our baker's truck driver, A. F. Malenke, Jr., from Parkerford, didn't get here until this morning (Sunday)," she said. "He usually comes on Saturday afternoon."

He was the first visitor to reach her place from the outside world after the storm, she remarked.

Motorists and truck drivers who got stuck on Black Horse hill, Route 100, late Friday had the whole night to think about their plight.

And what they thought was "Oh for a horse to pull us up Black Horse hill."

But horses never seem so scarce as at a time like that.

So a couple of dozen drivers spent the night dozing in their cold cabs while the blizzard swirled against the windows.

They didn't start moving until help came on Saturday morning.

Charles Favinger, Pottstown RD 1, driver for Columbia Boiler company, was one of those who sat it out on the slippery hill, he revealed yesterday.

Paul D. Lederach, maintenance supervisor for the Montgomery county department of highways, last night reported all of the county-maintained 85 miles of highway passable.

One of the toughest assignments of county snow removal crews was the clogged and slippery Swamp pike from Limerick to Gilbertsville.

By 6 o'clock Saturday night ploughs had forged their way over the 8-mile span.

Route 73, also in the upper end of the county, gave county crews a battle.

The State reported last night most of the 900 miles of road maintained by the Commonwealth in the county passable.

Crews for the State and county remained at work last night.

A similar state report was issued for Berks county where the snow caught road departments off guard.

chester "Stubby."

They bought the little dog for their 2-year-old daughter, Sherry, nine months ago.

Schwenksville firemen wore gas masks when they entered the smoke-filled home.

Chief Russell Krupp reported the fire was brought under control with two booster lines.

FIREMEN attacked flame with fog nozzles to cut down on water damage.

The floor and walls in the apartment living room were charred.

Apartment damage was estimated at $1500.

Owner Daniel A. Yates Jr., who lives on the Centennial avenue property reported the apartment was insured and added, "I'll begin repair work as soon as I contact the insurance company and get a couple of estimates."

Miller's furniture loss (not covered by insurance) was estimated at $750.

Firemen believe the fire started from a smoldering cigarette in a stuffed chair in the living room.

Lower Frederick firemen, summoned to the scene as a precautionary measure, were not pressed into action.

The fire was under control in a half hour, but members of the Schwenksville company remained on the job for an hour and 10 minutes.

The modern apartment was built adjacent to a barn on the Yates property. It includes a bedroom, living room, kitchen and bath.

The Millers, who were given temporary quarters with in-laws, were not home when the fire broke out.

Motorized Equipment Makes Snow Fly

Motorized equipment of J. D. Prosser company made the snow fly in Spring City yesterday.

Spring City borough hired the local road building concern to clear the business section of the snow which came down Friday night and Saturday. With Police Chief John Hanebury's assistance in getting the co-operation of motorists to move their cars and directing traffic, the snow went faster than it came.

Most of the job was completed with a little left over for today. With the snow removed, motorists have plenty of space to park without hindering moving traffic.

Chinese Pastor to Speak in Spring City Thursday

The Rev. Teng Kiat-Chin, pastor of the Chinese Christian church, Philadelphia, will speak in Odd Fellows temple, Spring City, Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

3 Marooned Hunters Rescued

in a jeep, leading a truck bearing a pregnant woman.

The station wagon had to be moved from the highway so that the truck could pass on its way to the hospital.

"I hate to think of what would have happened if they hadn't come by," Hartenstine said.

Even with the help, it took the men a total of 16 hours to make the trip from Potter county—220 miles away—to Pottstown, a trip they usually make in five hours.

Hartenstine owns a hunting lodge in the woods about seven miles north of Galton in the east central part of Potter county. The county borders on New York State in the center of Pennsylvania.

THE TRIO left Pottstown Thursday night for the hunting expedition.

They hunted all day Friday "but there was such a funny feeling in the air we didn't see a thing. The game knew something was coming."

The snow started falling Friday night, about 8 o'clock. "One hour later, I looked out and already the steps were covered."

"We woke up at about 4:30 Saturday morning and after one look out the window we knew we wouldn't be hunting. The car was covered."

Hartenstine estimated that about 25 inches of snow had fallen.

THE THREE men started shoveling at 6 a. m. First they had to shovel a huge area around the cabin because the station wagon was headed towards the woods rather than towards the mouth of the narrow dirt lane that led to the blacktop road.

The wooded lane was only about a quarter of a mile long.

"It took us from 6 a. m. until 2 p. m. to get the wagon through that quarter mile," Hartenstine said.

Luckily, the men found two snow shovels and a set of tire chains in the cabin.

"We thought we'd be all right once we reached the blacktop road," Hartenstine said, "but we were mistaken."

Through the morning hours, the snow became heavier and more tightly packed. After shoveling another hour, the men decided it was senseless to try any more.

"We kept hoping a plow would come through to open up the road. But it never did."

SUDDENLY they heard a vehicle coming down the road towards them.

It was a jeep. Behind it was a truck, carrying a man and a woman.

The driver of the jeep identified himself as a doctor. He explained that the woman in the truck was going to have a baby and that she had to be rushed through to a hospital.

The road was too narrow, however, to pull the station wagon to one side and allow a truck to pass.

So the doctor towed the station wagon with his jeep. "What a job that was," Hartenstine said.

It took another hour-and-a-half to tow the station wagon the two miles to Route 6, a wider highway that had been plowed.

The woman remained calm in the truck.

ONCE THE three men reached Route 6, they had a comparatively easier time of it.

"It took us another seven hours to get home but at least we knew we'd make it then."

"I'm sure we wouldn't have got out if it hadn't been for that doctor. And I'm sure there are a lot of hunters still back in those woods. Way back in, I mean. Some we saw while hunting on Friday."

When the three men reached Route 6 they learned that their hopes for a plow would have gone unfulfilled. High way men told them several plows had broken down.

How long the men could have held out is open to speculation. They had little food with them.

Their total bag for their day of hunting: one squirrel and one grouse.

Slight Loss Results As Vehicles Collide

A new coupe and a station wagon owned by the American Cancer society were slightly damaged in a mishap in Royersford last night.

According to police report, the coupe, operated by Michael Tusk, 547 Main street, Royersford, halted prior to turning left into a service station in the 600 block of Main street.

The station wagon, in charge of William L. Weller, Philadelphia, attempted to pass the coupe. The two scraped fenders.

STOWE CLUB GIVEN CHARTER AT CEREMONY

171 Attend as Lions Group Is Formally Dedicated

The Stowe Lions club received its charter Saturday night in formal ceremonies attended by 171 persons at the Elks home.

District Governor Peter A. Lucente presented the International and State charters to President Charles C. Madaras, who accepted on behalf of the club.

Lucente told the group that a community receives a great benefit from having service clubs.

"It's a general booster for any community to have these organizations working for the over-all betterment," Lucente stressed.

EDWARD J. SWEENEY, president of the Pottstown Lions club—sponsor of the Stowe club—presented Madaras with the president's gong and gavel.

Richard Stamm, first president of the Pottstown club, presented the Stowe members with the indoor and outdoor banners. Secretary John Basco accepted on behalf of the club.

C. Edmund Wells, past president of the Pottstown Lions, presented an American flag, which was accepted by Secretary Thomas Evans.

International Counsellor Edward Snow was toastmaster. He was introduced by John J. Culp, deputy district governor.

Ike White, past deputy district governor introduced Zone Chairman Paul Barndt, and then Barndt introduced Culp.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Arthur Hanson, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, Stowe.

Mervin Sheath led group singing of "America." James Jones led in the pledge to the flag. Sheath later sang a solo of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Table decorations were donated by Levegood florists.

Mansion House Hotel Is Sure to Please All Who Like Good Food

Everyone likes good food, served in a pleasant atmosphere in a courteous manner—and that's just what guests of the Mansion House hotel in West Chester have been getting for many, many years!

Constructed in 1831, the Mansion House hotel has a historic background. It has acted as host to governors, senators, notables from all over the world during its long existence and it was once famous as a stage coach stopping place between here and Philadelphia.

For years it has been famous for food, and tradition is being held up today with a select menu for breakfast, luncheon or dinner seven days of the week.

You may dine in the main dining room or the colorful Garden room as you prefer. Identical menus are served in both.

Entertainment is provided nightly in the Garden room where you may also sip your favorite cocktail, made of choice liquors and mixed carefully to your taste.

Private banquet facilities are provided with the large Green room where over 150 may be accommodated and there are also smaller rooms.

Make your headquarters the Mansion House hotel when in West Chester and be sure and bring the family for Sunday dinner—they'll enjoy good food and eating away from home now and then.

Be Wise! Buy Toys, Appliances Early; Save at H. B. Kratz and Sons

Well, here it is November and Christmas bells will soon be ringing and you'll be hurrying here and there from store to store trying to make those last-minute purchases, unless you are wise!

If you are wise you'll go to H. B. Kratz & Sons, in Schwenksville, right away, especially if you are in the market for toys, and see the tremendous stock offered here, more than at any time in the history of the firm.

American Flyer trains, trucks, wagons, dolls, books, games of every description, wheel barrows, tool chests—just what the little boys and girls love at Christmas or any time of the year.

You can take advantage of their layaway plan if you like, and if you buy now it won't be such a financial burden. Then you'll have the added advantage of shopping from a large stock before it is picked over or depleted.

Appliances and housewares offer many gift suggestions for the grown-ups at the Kratz establishment, too!

But you'll get a real delight from seeing that huge toy department which, due to a remodeling program recently, has been stored in one huge room. Makes it easy for you to shop and the toys are nicely displayed.

Don't forget! H. B. Kratz & Sons will soon be bringing Santa Claus to Schwenksville, too.

Keeping the Old Car? Get a New Paint Job At Area Refinishers

Your car may be an old model but giving you perfect performance and you hate to invest the difference a new one would cost.

But it does look shabby and dingy, you say to yourself, and you're just undecided what to do.

The answer is easy. If you want to keep the old car, take it to a skilled auto body and fender repair man, have his skilled mechanics knock the kinks out of fenders, fix up any body damage and then give it a new coat of paint.

You'll think you are riding in a 1953 model once this miracle "face-lifting" job has been performed with modern machinery engineered by well known mechanics who know their business.

Amazing what can be done to restore the looks of that old "bus." B & O Refinishing Center, Lewis road at Chestnut street in Royersford, phone 960, does skilled auto refinishing, wreck work and installs auto glass.

Motorized Equipment Makes Snow Fly

Motorized equipment of J. D. Prosser company made the snow fly in Spring City yesterday.

Spring City borough hired the local road building concern to clear the business section of the snow which came down Friday night and Saturday. With Police Chief John Hanebury's assistance in getting the co-operation of motorists to move their cars and directing traffic, the snow went faster than it came.

Most of the job was completed, with a little left over for today. With the snow removed, motorists have plenty of space to park without hindering moving traffic.

Chinese Pastor to Speak in Spring City Thursday

The Rev. Teng Kiat-Chin, pastor of the Chinese Christian church, Philadelphia, will speak in Odd Fellows temple, Spring City, Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Vincent Lodge 762 IOOF will have its weekly lodge meeting at 7:30 o'clock, preceding the public meeting.

Mums Will Highlight Garden Club Meeting

The November meeting of Laurel Garden club has been planned for Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. Robert Taylor, Wall street and Pikeland avenue, Spring City.

Mrs. William Wenzel will talk on "Chrysanthemums." Floral arrangements will be made up of mums and a Thanksgiving centerpiece. Each member was asked to take an arrangement to the meeting.

Snow Gets Blame As Three Vehicles Tangle in Spring City

An accident involving three cars caused damage to the doors or fenders of each in Spring City yesterday morning at 11:45 o'clock.

With movement of traffic difficult because of the snow, Lawrence Shaner, New street, going east, pulled toward the curb to allow a machine going the other way to pass.

Instead, the other car parked. Keith Romaine Stahlnecker, Mill road, Pottstown RD 4, was following Shaner. There was a collision involving these two cars, one of which also struck the car of Fred Walker, which was parked in front of 165 Chestnut street.

Two doors on one side and the front fender of Walker's car were damaged, together with the left rear fender of Shaner's machine and a front fender of Stahlnecker's vehicle.

Police Chief John Hanebury investigated.

Parents Are Invited To Visit Schools At Upper Perkiomen

Parents and friends of Upper Perkiomen school pupils are being urged to visit at the schools and sales.

The invitation is part of the Harvey S. Firestone Jr., chairman arrangements to observe American Education Week in that locality.

"Good Schools Are Your Responsibility" is the theme.

The schools will be open from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. on certain days for inspection, it was announced.

Open tonight will be elementary buildings at East Greenville, Green Lane, Red Hill and Summerville.

Friday, East Greenville High school.

While parents are welcome to visit classrooms on any school day, a special effort will be made to have them inspect the schools and meet the teachers on the three nights noted.

Sponsors of the 33d annual education week are the National Education association, the American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the US Office of Education.

Commercial Stall Space For Farm Show Sold Out

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8 (AP) — All commercial exhibit space for the 1954 Pennsylvania farm show has been sold out.

Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst said some 300 exhibitors have been assigned space for the event to be held here Jan. 11-15. Seventy-two other requests were turned down because of lack of space.

New Sales Record Set By Firestone Company

The announcement was made by Harvey S. Firestone Jr., chairman of the board.

Firestone predicted that the tire demand in 1954 would equal or exceed that of the record 1950 year.

He also foresaw 1954 as a year of high employment in the rubber industry, with production being planned at normal capacity levels.

Commandant Declares Marine Corps in Shape

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 8 (AP) — Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., Marine Corps commandant, said the Corps is down to "lean muscle and bone" and is "prepared for any eventuality."

Shepherd has just returned from an inspection of the combat readiness of the Third Marine division in Japan and the First Marine division and the First Marine air wing in Korea.

He told a news conference he was greatly impressed with their enthusiasm, high morale and alertness to potential danger.

Top Rank Violinist To Appear Monday

Pottstown Community Concert association will present "a musician of the first rank" at its first musicale of the season tonight.

He is Szymon Goldberg, Polish-born violinist who twice appeared at Carnegie hall in New York.

Goldberg will play here at the Senior High school. The recital will begin at 8:30 p. m.

The 42-year-old musician will play the same Stradivarius violin here that he carried on world tours and during three years as a prisoner of the Japanese in World War II.

French School Teachers To Strike for Pay Rise

PARIS, Nov. 8 (AP) — French public school teachers are going on a 24-hour strike tomorrow for higher pay.

The teachers' union complains that Government salary increases for military and judicial personnel have left the pay scale abnormally low in the field of education.

They want a 10-percent pay hike immediately and negotiations for a higher boost.

The teachers are protesting against a recent decree by Premier Laniel's Government giving departmental prefects (county governors) supervisory powers over the schools. They say this opens the door to political interference in education.

Expedition Sends Report On 'Missing Link' Fish

DAR-ESS-SALAAM, Tanganyika, Nov. 8 (AP) — An unconfirmed report reached here saying that an Italian scientific expedition in the Comoro islands, off East Africa, has photographed a live Coelacanth, the "missing link" fish dating back millions of years.

The report said the expedition photographed the fish, believed to be the link between the fish and the land animal, off the east barrier reef at Mayotte, one of the smaller islands in the Comoro group.

The expedition is searching for evidence of a lost continent in the Indian ocean.

Woman Recluse Dies; Police Find $8122 Cash

SAYRE, Nov. 8 (AP) — A 70-year-old Sayre woman who lived as a recluse for 25 years died in her shabby, cluttered two-room apartment. Police found $8122 in cash neatly packed in an old suitcase.

Mary Anderson was found unconscious on her kitchen floor by police and a neighbor. She died later in the Robert Packer hospital without regaining consciousness.

Police Chief Ray Nobles of Sayre said she suffered a possible fractured skull in a fall, probably as a result of a stroke. She had been lying on the floor two days, Nobles said.

RABAT, French Morocco, Nov. 8 (AP) — Three bombs exploded on a Casablanca-Algiers express train last night, killing six persons and injuring three others gravely.

Eight-Year-Old Kills Quail With Arrow

MADRAS, Ore., Nov. 8 (AP) — Kathy Kriz, an archer, brought down a quail that flew too close to her as she was practicing with bow and arrow near her home.

She said she often had shot at quail but never before had hit one. This time her arrow broke the quail's neck.

Gunman Keeps Promise, Calls Victim on 'Phone

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8 (AP) — John McCauley, 38, told police he was robbed by a gunman who at least keeps a promise.

McCauley said he was greeted by a masked man with a gun in his hand as he stepped out of his car in front of his home.

The gunman forced McCauley back into the car and had him drive to an isolated spot where he took McCauley's wallet, containing only $8 and identification cards.

Then, the man forced McCauley out of the car but told him he would telephone him in a half hour and tell him where the auto could be found.

HONEYMOONERS TRAPPED

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8 (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Rodgers got ready to start their honeymoon yesterday. They stepped into an automatic elevator at a downtown hotel. The elevator stuck between floors. It took mechanics more than an hour to free the couple.

The gunman forced McCauley back into the car and had him drive to an isolated spot where he took McCauley's wallet, containing only $8 and identification cards. Then, the man forced McCauley out of the car but told him he would telephone him in a half hour and tell him where the auto could be found.

McCauley hurried home. Sure enough, the 'phone rang and a husky voice told him the auto was only a few blocks away.

HONEYMOONERS TRAPPED

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Rodgers got ready to start their honeymoon yesterday. They stepped into an automatic elevator at a downtown hotel. The elevator stuck between floors. It took mechanics more than an hour to free the couple.

Parents Are Invited To Visit Schools At Upper Perkiomen

Parents and friends of Upper Perkiomen school pupils are being urged to visit at the schools this week.

"Good Schools Are Your Responsibility" is the theme.

The schools will be open from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. on certain days for inspection, it was announced.

Open tonight will be elementary buildings at East Greenville, Green Lane, Red Hill and Summerville.

Friday, East Greenville High school.

While parents are welcome to visit classrooms on any school day, a special effort will be made to have them inspect the schools and meet the teachers on the three nights noted.

Sponsors of the 33d annual education week are the National Education association, the American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the US Office of Education.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8 (AP)—All commercial exhibit space for the 1954 Pennsylvania farm show has been sold out.

Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst said some 300 exhibitors have been assigned space for the event to be held here Jan. 11-15. Seventy-two other requests were turned down because of lack of space.

New Sales Record Set By Firestone Company

The Firestone Tire and Rubber company set a new sales record for the fiscal year which just ended by selling more than one billion dollars worth of products and sales.

The announcement was made by Harvey S. Firestone Jr., chairman of the board.

Firestone predicted that the tire demand in 1954 would equal or exceed that of the record 1950 year. He also foresaw 1954 as a year of high employment in the rubber industry, with production being planned at normal capacity levels.

Commandant Declares Marine Corps in Shape

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 8 (AP)—Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., Marine Corps commandant, said the Corps is down to "lean muscle and bone" and is "prepared for any eventuality."

Shepherd has just returned from an inspection of the combat readiness of the Third Marine division in Japan and the First Marine division and the First Marine air wing in Korea.

He told a news conference he was greatly impressed with their enthusiasm, high morale and alertness to potential danger.

Celeste C. Pauly and Theodore S. Gribb Married at Nuptial Mass

Celeste C. Pauly became the "Mother at Thy Feet is Kneeling" of Theodore S. Gribb at a nuptial mass ceremony performed Saturday in St. Aloysius church. The Rev. George P. Hiller officiated the nuptial mass and also celebrated the nuptial mass.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Pauly, 66 Chestnut street. Mr. Gribb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Grzybowski, Nanticoke.

White chrysanthemums, gladioli and palms decorated the altars of the church.

During the mass Jean Keitz, Pottstown, sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," and

A halo of illusion entwined with pearls anchored the bride's finger-tip veil of illusion. She carried calla lilies arranged in tiers with white and green ivy and taffeta ribbons.

Marilyn Williams, Philadelphia, a niece of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was gown in autumn rose whispering taffeta, styled with a tucked bodice, cap sleeves, an empire waistline, and a full length skirt. Her headpiece was a double band of pearls studded velvet with a matching nose veil of nylon illusion. Wrist length white gloves and a crescent shaped bouquet of shaded pompons from bronze to yellow completed her ensemble.

As bridesmaid Loretta Liput, Pottstown, a niece of the bride, groom, wore a gown of iridescent peacock blue taffeta. Her gown was fashioned similar to that of the maid of honor, but the skirt was waltz length.

Andrew Tyno, New York City, attended the groom as best man. The wedding was ushered by Joseph Tyburski, Philadelphia, and Eugene Finn, Pottstown.

Mrs. Pauly, mother of the bride, was attired in a jacket style dress of cocoa black crepe trimmed with insertions of lace over rust. Her hat was of black velvet trimmed with sequins and her corsage rust pompons.

Mrs. Grzybowski chose an amethyst colored crepe dress accented with black accessories and a corsage of rust pompons.

After the ceremony, a breakfast was served to the wedding party and the immediate relatives at the Orioles Club, Boy-

The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., and the Smoky Mountains, Tenn.

For going-away the bride chose a dress of pink wool tweed and black accessories. Over it she wore a coat of cedar green accented with a corsage of white pompons. Her jewelry was a necklace and earrings of silver and turquoise, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Pottstown High School and the Pottstown School of Nursing. She is employed as an office assistant of Dr. S. R. Ash.

Mr. Grubb is a graduate of Nanticoke High School and Wilkes College, Wilkes-Barre. He is employed in the scheduling department of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

The couple will make their home in Pottstown.

Square Dancing Tonight at YMCA For Young Adults

Young adults over high school age from Pottstown and vicinity will meet for square dancing tonight at the YMCA from 8 to 10. Bill Morrell, local caller, will be on hand to call and instruct in the dancing.

The Square Dance club was organized for young men and women out of school who are interested in square dancing. Sponsors of the organization are the Pottstown Recreation commission and the YMCA.

Seals to Support Needy Students Mailed By Members of Riverview Hospital Guild

Members of the Pottstown Guild to Riverview Osteopathic hospital, Norristown, staged a mailing party in the home of Mrs. J. Howard Yerger, Layfield road.

Fifty packets of the seals, which support loans to needy students in osteopathic colleges and osteopathic research into the causes of disease, were sent out.

Members planned a Christmas party to be held at Lakeside Inn on Dec. 1. They were asked to bring small gifts for a grab-bag exchange.

An invitation was received from the Main Line guild to the hospital to attend a meeting in Berwyn on Wednesday evening. Dr. Beryl Arbuckle, head of the Osteopathic Cerebral Palsy foundation, will be the speaker.

Mrs. Charles Lichtenwalner Jr. is in charge of transportation.

Guild members are invited to the annual Fall Cabaret slated for Nov. 21 in the Plymouth Country club, Norristown, for the benefit of the hospital.

Reports were given by Mrs. John C. Longacre and Mrs. James S. Corbin on ways and means projects, and by Alice Princenthal, treasurer.

Mrs. Myron W. Smith and Marion Roth were guests at the meeting which was conducted by Mrs. Charles W. Rhoads, president.

Edith Marie Stayer Becomes Bride At Saturday Double Ring Wedding

A double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Samuel H. Hess, in Mingo Church of the Brethren, Royersford RD, united in marriage Edith Marie Stayer and Jared William Clemmer Jr., Collegeville RD 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Stayer, 624 Main street, Collegeville, are the parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mrs. Bertha Clemmer, Norristown, and Jared W. Clemmer Sr., Clearwater, Fla.

A half hour's recital of bridal music preceded the wedding. Warren E. Nettles, Sanatoga, brother-in-law of the groom, sang "Because I Love You Truly." The high collared jacket with elbow length sleeves covered the bodice. Her colonial bouquet was of red roses and white pompons.

E. Nettles was her honor attendant. She chose an American beauty colored strapless satin gown. A high collared jacket with elbow length sleeves covered the bodice. Her colonial bouquet was of red roses and white pompons.

Gowned in dresses identical to that of the matron of honor were bridesmaids, Joyce Stayer and Phyllis Ann Loughlin. Their bouquets were also the same as the honor attendant's.

Linda Jane Wayland and Marie Elaine Nettles served as flower bearers.

Performing the duties of the best man was Robert Wayland, Collegeville RD 1. Edwin R. Roberts, Ambler, and John Taylor, Evansburg, were the ushers.

A reception in the church social room followed the ceremony. Upon their return from the Florida honeymoon the newly married couple will reside on Mench road, Skippack.

The bride was graduated from the Collegeville-Trappe High school in 1949 and received her diploma from Montgomery hospital school of nursing, 1953. She is employed at the Norristown State hospital.

The groom served three and a half years in the Army and is now associated with Edwin Roberts, Ambler.

Youths Need Sense of Responsibility School Psychologist Tells PTA Members

Dr. Mabel Kessler, Montgomery county school psychologist, stressed the importance of developing in children a sense of responsibility and values in her talk at a meeting of the Upper Pottsgrove PTA.

Dr. Kessler answered parents' questions at the conclusion of her talk. The PTA met for the first time in the new auditorium and cafeteria of the school.

Rita Freese, chairman of the membership committee, reported 138 members for the 1953-54 season. The sixth grade had the highest percentage of memberships and won the room prize.

Virginia Hughes, chairman of the finance committee, reported that playground equipment will be purchased with the proceeds of a recent fund-raising project.

Financial committee workers are: Marge Rhoads, Ruth Fisher, Miriam Rubright and Bernice Dunlap.

Musical selections were presented by Denny Burfete, accordionist.

After the meeting coffee and doughnuts were served by the hospitality committee.

Brownie Troop 11 Accepts New Members, Continues Work on Christmas Presents

Two new members were invested into Brownie troop 11, Emmanuel Lutheran church, at a meeting held in the church. Received into the group were Diane Missimer and Carol Stong.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." Participants in the flag ceremony which followed were: Margie Peck and Judy Scheffey, color bearers, and Carol Ann Dunlap and Sandra Werner, color guards.

Each girl brought a donation to be used to purchase a CARE package to be sent overseas. The girls also continued work on their Christmas gifts.

Brownies present included: Carol Bast, Judy Bickel, Judy Bernhart, Sally Ann Brauch, Susan Clemmens, Phyllis Coveley, Carol Ann Dunlap, Dorothy Ann Gephart, Edwina Gephart, Gaye Gross, and Alicson Hartman.

Rosemary Hausman, Cheryl Jackson, Nancy Klink, Sharon Kulp, Suzanne Jordan, Sharon Moyer, Margie Peck, Betsy Roitz, Patricia Saylor, Judy Scheffey, Sandra Werner, Palma Seibert and Charlene Ellis.

Leaders who attend are: Mrs. George Bickel, Mrs. Joseph Klink, Mrs. Delmar Dunlap and Mrs. Douglas Scheffey.

Golden Age Members To Gather at YWCA

The regular meeting of the Pottstown Golden Age club will be this afternoon from 2 to 4 in the YWCA gym. All persons in and around Pottstown, 60 years of age and older, are invited to attend and participate in group singing, cards and other table games.

Refreshments will be served by the Business and Professional Women's club. The organization is sponsored by the Pottstown Recreation commission.

Wedding Anniversaries

Today Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buttaro, 1201 Cherry street, 7 years.

GEORGE STANSON, Prop.

Mrs. V. Gottshall Is Guest Speaker At DAR Meeting

Mrs. Vincent Gottshall, state treasurer of the Children of the American Revolution, discussed the organization at the November meeting of the Manatoway chapter of the DAR.

She also announced a luncheon for those interested in organizing a chapter of the DAR in this vicinity. The affair will be held Wednesday at the Brookside Country club.

Mrs. Brook Walk, presided at the session in the absence of the regent, Mrs. Elmer Haas.

Radnor League Vice President Is Guest At Pottstown Organization's Open House

Mrs. John Ertel, president of the Provisional League of Women Voters, acted as hostess for the group's open house at Brookside Country club.

Guest speakers for the affair were Mrs. Boudinot Stimpson, vice president of the Radnor league, and Mrs. John Rich, Havertown, finance chairman of the state organization.

Mrs. Stimpson spoke first about the history of the league. She pointed out that there is a league in every state and also in Hawaii and Alaska. Altogether 122,000 members are active in 917 leagues.

She emphasized the fact that the league is a non-partisan organization dedicated to the purpose of promoting political interest in the community.

The league's state issue at this time is the constitutional referendum. Mrs. Stimpson concluded her talk by stressing the need for a constitutional convention.

Nov. 24 is the date set for the next regular meeting of the league.

Mrs. Edgar Bush and Mrs. Walter Bower To Chairman Pine Forge Christmas Fete

Plans for a Christmas party were made at a meeting of the Pine Forge Mothers' club. The party is slated for Dec. 22 at Lakeside Inn.

Chairman of the committee for party arrangement will be Mrs. Edgar Bush with Mrs. Walter Bower serving as co-chairman.

After the business meeting, a lingerie demonstration was given by Mrs. Bush.

Refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. Bush, Douglassville RD 2, and the co-hostesses, Mrs. Robert Roshon and Mrs. Stanley Lightcap.

The next meeting of the group is slated for Dec. 3 at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Charles Levensgood, Douglassville RD 1.

Present were: Mrs. Stanley Werstler, Mrs. Robert Bush, Mrs. Gerald Kappenstein, Mrs. Roshon, Mrs. Charles Dengler, Mrs. William Mellinger and Mrs. James O'Neill.

Mrs. Douglas Arndt, Mrs. Walter Bower, Mrs. James Whitacre, Mrs. Lightcap, Mrs. Charles Levensgood, Mrs. Frank Ankner and Mrs. Bush.

Crippled Girl Scout Is Heroine of Junior High Play

As a postscript to national Girl Scout Week, local Scouts dramatized "The Little Story" for a Junior High school assembly the past week. They were aided by two boys from the school.

The story is about a new Girl Scout, crippled by polio, who writes to the loveless column of her local newspaper saying that she can't find anything useful to do as the other girls can.

Through the aid of a newspaper reporter, "Sally" learns that only she can write a play about the March of Dimes, for she is the only person in the troop who knows what it is like to be crippled.

Trojan-Raider Game Postponed To Friday Afternoon, Nov. 20

The Pottstown High-Coatesville lead the team again next year despite the seven straight losses the Raiders have suffered. They said they understand he has been hampered by injuries to the Senior players and that he is developing the Juniors and Sophomores for better team next season.

The final okay on the Nov. 20 was given last night by Pottstown High principal, Stanley I. Davenport Jr.

Wayne Von Stetten, head football coach and athletic director at Coatesville, conferred with Ed Good, Pottstown's athletic director and Heeb Meyers, head coach of the Trojans, on Saturday. They agreed the Friday date was the most acceptable, and the Coatesville principal gave his okay.

THE COACHES preferred to play that Friday rather than the next day, Saturday, Nov. 21, because it will give both teams an extra day to prepare for important Thanksgiving Day games the following Thursday.

The Junior varsity game will also probably be moved up to Nov. 21. By playing on that Saturday morning at Pottstown, the junior varsity players will also be ready in case they are called on to play in the varsity games.

Saturday's game was called off early in the morning when it was evident there was no possible chance of playing because of the snow storm. It had originally been scheduled for Friday night.

Von Stetten has received a big boost from the Coatesville school board which in turn may lift the spirit of his winless team. The board members offered a vote of confidence to the second year coach that he will be retained to

Hill-Peddle Game Canceled; Blues Play Lawrenceville Next

The Hill school football game at Dell field with Peddie on Saturday afternoon was cancelled.

Peddle's players would lose too much time from class to postpone the game for later this week, Peddie officials said.

Coach Frank Bissell and his undefeated Blues were disappointed that the heavy snow caused the cancellation because they would have liked to play one more hard battle before meeting Lawrenceville next Friday.

That game will decide which team will wind up undefeated. Hill school's last all-winning season was in 1949. Both teams will conclude their seasons in this big game being played at Lawrenceville.

The scheduled cross country meet with Peddie was also called off as was the soccer match with West Chester State Teachers college junior varsity.

CUBS' GAME DOUBTFUL

Gene Kauler, coach of the Pottstown Junior High football team will find out this morning whether his Golden Cubs will play at West Chester this afternoon.

The game was postponed from Friday afternoon and unless the field is in playing condition today there is a good possibility the match will be cancelled.

The Cubs figure this to be one of the hardest games on their schedule and are anxious to avenge last year's defeat to the West Chester junior high boys.

Illinois Paces Big Ten

Pair of Placements Hurt Bowl Hopes of Baylor, Stanford

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP) — Sam Tsagalakis, pint-sized kicking specialist from Southern California, and Phil Branch, strapping guard from Texas, literally have put a foot into bowl dreams at Stanford and Baylor.

It was 160-pound Tsagalakis' 38-yard field goal with just 14 seconds left in the game that handed Stanford its first Pacific Coast conference loss in six contests 23-20. The Indians still lead Far West candidates for the Rose Bowl but the defeat kept idle UCLA, 4-1 in PCC play and ninth ranked in the nation, very much in the running.

Branch, a 205-pounder, provided the margin of Texas' 21-20 victory over previously unbeaten Baylor by kicking three extra points which scrambled the Southwest conference race for the title and an automatic cotton bowl bid.

Johnny Lattner took the individual spotlight as Notre Dame, the nation's leading team which doesn't believe in post season play, staved off Penn's surprising Quakers for a 28-20 triumph.

Meanwhile Illinois' J. C. Caroline, Maryland's Chet Hanulak, Oklahoma's Larry Grigg and West Virginia's Tom Allman have nudged their teams to the brink of a New Year's Day invitation.

CAROLINE DARTED 194 yards through Michigan's defenses as Illinois, No. 4, handed the Wolverines a 19-3 setback with an eye turned toward Pasadena. Hanulak powered second place Maryland's 27-6 effort against George Washington and Grigg sparked eighth ranked Oklahoma's 14-7 triumph over Missouri as these two schools marched steadily toward an Orange Bowl meeting under the new Atlantic Coast-Big Seven conference tieup.

Allman tallied both times as seventh rated West Virginia came from behind to defeat Virginia Tech 12-7 and enhance its chances for a post season engagement. It left the Mountaineers, Notre Dame and Maryland as the lone unbeaten and untied among major schools.

Georgia Tech, No. 6, continued to look like a sure bet for either the Sugar or Cotton bowl in downing Clemson 20-7. Leroy Bolden got three touchdowns as fifth place Michigan State stayed within range of Illinois in the Big Ten with a 28-13 victory win over Ohio State. ened turf at Baltimore. For the armchair football fans the NCAA television program of offered regional showings. Wisconsin's 34-13 defeat of Northwestern, which put the Badgers in third place in the Big Ten and kept their title hopes alive, was watched by viewers in the Midwest and Northeast.

KANSAS STATE'S 7-0 victory over Kansas was shown in the midlands and West. Florida's 21-7 margin over Georgia and South Carolina's 18-0 triumph over North Carolina were offered in different parts of the South. It was the first time since 1944 that both Kansas State and South Carolina had been able to defeat their arch-rivals.

Penn proved its rugged schedule has served as a toughener by giving Notre Dame its hardest fight of the campaign. Lattner was the difference. His 92 yard kickoff return provided the tieing touchdown after the Quakers jumped off to a fast lead. A 35 punt return and 56 yard kickoff return set up two more Irish touchdowns and his end zone pass interception halted Penn's last drive.

Three Title Bouts On Tap This Week; Gavilan, Bratton Set

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP) — Three world championship bouts top the boxing program this week at such widely scattered points as Montreal, Chicago and Sydney, Australia.

Lightweight champ Jimmy Carter starts it off Wednesday at the Montreal forum against Armand Savoie of Montreal in a 15-round defense, the first championship bout at Montreal since 1931. Carter is 5 to 1 over the challenger.

Kid Gavilan risks his welter title at the Chicago stadium Friday against Johnny Bratton of Chicago, the No. 1 contender. It will be the third meeting of the two fighters with Gavilan winning one and the second ending in a draw.

The Gavilan-Bratton bout is the only one of the three championship fights to be seen on television with the Chicago area blacked out. It also will be heard on radio at 10 o'clock, Pottstown time.

Bantamweight champ Jimmy Carruthers of Australia makes his first defense before the home fans at Sydney Friday against Henry (Poppy) Gault of Spartansburg, S. C., former North American 118-pound ruler.

Although the Carter-Savoie bout originally was scheduled for TV, technical difficulties changed the plans. The TV fans will see middleweight rematch from Washington, D. C., between Randy Sandy of New York and Willie Troy of Washington. Sandy has lost only once when he was stopped by Troy in their first meeting. Troy's only defeat was by Holly Mims of Washington.

SAM GREEN played only a short time in the Penn State victory over Fordham on Saturday but in the second quarter he threw an important block that helped break LENNY MOORE loose for a 52-yard touchdown run. Sam, who has been bothered with injuries, kicked off after Moore's tally.

Another Penn State guard who is making good in a big way is RON DOWNIE, ex-Pottstown High griddier who played most of the game as the Lion Frosh team halted the Navy Plebes, 25-0, on Saturday at Annapolis.

CARL BODOLUS rubbed shoulders with the touted Maryland forwards on Saturday as he played a big part in George Washington's unexpected stand against the No. 2 ranking Terps. Bodolus, a Senior guard, was an important cog in the GW forward wall that outcharged the Maryland linemen, especially in the first half.

Snow Snarls Football Schedules

Traffic wasn't the only thing snarled by Friday's snowstorm—what the white stuff did to football schedules shouldn't happen to an Eskimo.

The snowfall that put the garages into a higher income bracket and sent drivers trudging home also caused coaches, athletic directors, and principals to tear their hair, roll their eyes and blame the whole thing on the Communists.

As of Saturday, local football schedules are about as hard to read as a Chinese laundry ticket and as hard to figure out as an excess profits tax.

The Boyertown-Muhlenberg game was scheduled to take place at Muhlenberg on Saturday. Then the snow came, and it was announced in Reading Saturday morning that the game had been postponed until today at 2:30 o'clock.

All this is news to Boyertown mentor Warren Fry. Last night Fry said that he wouldn't know until this morning when the game would be played. It depended upon the condition of the Muhl's field. "We may or may not play tomorrow," Fry said. "I'd like to play on the 21st."

THE 21st DOESN'T suit the Muhls, though. Most of the Reading clubs wind up their seasons in mid-November so they can forget football and move right into basketball. And Muhlenberg is no exception. Wilson is another Berks school that wants to forget the gridiron and go into the court session.

Coach Eben "Bud" Cleveland and his Spring City Pirates were to play host to the Wilson Prexies Saturday, but a slight matter of 11½ inches of slush neatly balled up the works on that tally.

According to Cleveland, Spring City will play Wilson on the 18th, but only if the Pirates can play their regularly scheduled game with Boyertown on the 14th.

In the event the Boyertown game is postponed because of weather conditions, Cleveland said, the Wilson game will have to be put away in mothballs and the Boyertown game substituted sometime during that week.

The Pirate coach said that Spring City High school principal John Sanderson was making all the arrangements. Sanderson said last night that he was now thinking about the 21st, and that tentatively the game would be rescheduled for that date. He had wanted to play today, but Wilson wouldn't hear of it. According to Sanderson, Spring City prefers the 21st and will not consider the 18th

So the kids are out playing and the coaches are in worrying and no one knows just what's going on. It looks as though there'll be football next week, but just who's playing who is one for Charley Chan to decide.

The Pottstown High-Coatesville High game was postponed for the second time on Saturday, and latest plans are for the contest to be played Friday afternoon, Nov. 20. That date was decided upon over the weekend with coaches, athletic directors and principals all offering their approval.

The final okay on the Nov. 20 was given last night by Pottstown High principal, Stanley I. Davenport Jr.

Collegeville and Schwenksville probably have the easiest solution to the whole crazy mixed-up situation. Both teams were to wind up their seasons the past Saturday before the big winds started blowing and the wet white stuff came down. They agreed to postpone their game until the following Saturday, since no schedule juggling was involved. So Collegeville will host Schwenksville Saturday, unless—

Several coaches went so far as to state that they believed football was done for the season. "We don't have the equipment to get our field cleared off," one said. Another thought that the continued cold weather, with no moderation, would just about kill football for '53.

So the kids are out playing and the coaches are in worrying and no one knows just what's going on. It looks as though there'll be football next week, but just who's playing who is one for Charley Chan to decide.

Ah yes, snow, snow, beautiful snow...

Illinois Paces Big Ten

Pair of Placements Hurt Bowl Hopes of Baylor, Stanford

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sam Tsagalakis, pint-sized kicking specialist from Southern California, and Phil Branch, strapping guard from Texas, literally have put a foot into bowl dreams at Stanford and Baylor.

It was 160-pound Tsagalakis' 38-yard field goal with just 14 seconds left in the game that handed Stanford its first Pacific Coast conference loss in six contests 23-20. The Indians still lead Far West candidates for the Rose Bowl but the defeat kept idle UCLA, 4-1 in PCC play and ninth ranked in the nation, very much in the running.

Branch, a 205-pounder, provided the margin of Texas' 21-20 victory over previously unbeaten Baylor by kicking three extra points which scrambled the Southwest conference race for the title and an automatic cotton bowl bid.

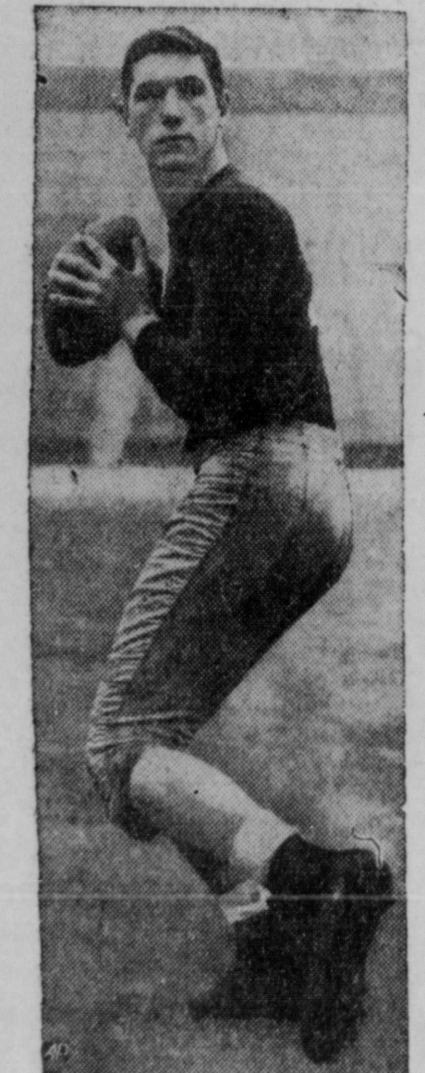

Johnny Latner took the individual spotlight as Notre Dame, the nation's leading team which doesn't believe in post season play, staved off Penn's surprising Quakers for a 28-20 triumph.

Meanwhile Illinois' J. C. Caroline, Maryland's Chet Hanulak, Oklahoma's Larry Grigg and West Virginia's Tom Allman have nudged their teams to the brink of a New Year's day invitation.

CAROLINE DARTED 184 yards through Michigan's defenses as Illinois, No. 4, handed the Wolverines a 19-3 setback with an eye turned toward Pasadena. Hanulak powered second place Maryland's 27-6 effort against George Washington and Grigg sparked eighth ranked Oklahoma's 14-7 triumph over Missouri as these two schools marched steadily toward an Orange Bowl meeting under the new Atlantic Coast-Big Seven conference tieup.

Allman tallied both times as seventh rated West Virginia came from behind to defeat Virginia Tech 12-7 and enhance its chances for a post season engagement. It left the Mountaineers, Notre Dame and Maryland as the lone unbeaten and untied among major schools.

Georgia Tech, No. 6, continued to look like a sure bet for either the Sugar or Cotton bowl in downing Clemson 20-7. Leroy Bolden got three touchdowns as fifth place Michigan State stayed within range of Illinois in the Big Ten with a 28-13 victory win over Ohio State. Navy played Duke, No. 10, to a scoreless draw on the snow-soft

GAINS 437 YARDS IN AIR; BEATS GIANTS, 30-7

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles walloped the New York Giants, 30-7, today in a National Football League game that was slow moving at the start but wound up in a flurry of touchdowns, flying fists, snowballs and a spectacular exhibition of passing by the Eagles' Bobby Thomason.

Thomason, the NFL's second best passer before today, pitched four touchdown passes and gained 437 yards with his pin-point aerials. His overall performance was the fourth best in league history.

He completed 22 of 44 passes during the cold afternoon and faultlessly directed the Philadelphia club to its fourth straight victory and a solid hold on second place in the Eastern division.

Renfro's Long Runs Pace Browns to Win Over Steelers

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8 (AP)—Ray Renfro flashed down the sidelines for two quick touchdowns today as the Cleveland Browns came from behind to score 24 points in the second period and then swept on to a 34-16 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Taking a pitchout from Otto Graham, Renfro went 44 yards for his first tally. Later the speedy left halfback blocked Nick Bolkovac's field goal try, picked up the bounding ball and sprinted 79 yards to the end zone.

Cleveland, ringing up its seventh straight National Football League victory, moved 66 yards in nine plays for its first touchdown, Ken Carpenter going the last seven. A few plays later Kenny Konz intercepted a pass by Pittsburgh's Jim Finks on the Cleveland 36 and moved the ball on five plays, setting up a 20-yard field goal by Lou Groza.

CLEVELAND MOVED 64 yards to its last touchdown on three straight passes by Graham, who hit Dante Lavelli for the 17-yard payoff pitch. Groza added his second field goal, a 14-yard boot, late in that period.

Pittsburgh, threatening an upset, got off to a nine-point lead in the first period, Walt Michaels fumbled the opening kickoff on the Cleveland 34 and Jack Butler recovered for Pittsburgh. Seven plays later Bolkovac booted a 27-yard field goal.

Cleveland marched the return kickoff to the Steelers' five, but there Pittsburgh held for four plays and Pat Brady kicked out. The next time they got the ball, the Steelers went 80 yards in 16 plays, Ray Matthews plunging the last two for a touchdown.

Then deep in the second period, Matthews got behind Cleveland safety man Ken Gorgal and caught a flip from Finks for a 77-yard Steeler tally.

It was right after that that the Steelers moved from the Cleveland 42 to the 14 from where Bolkovac attempted the field goal that ended in Renfro's startling scoring run.

A CROWD of 35,592 watched the game through a drizzly rain. Because of the tarpaulin which guarded the field last night, the turf was relatively dry.

Despite the wet ball, Graham completed 12 of 18 passes for 218 yards. Finks threw 45 times, completing 17 for 219 yards.

Irish Guard Injured

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8 (AP)—Ray Lemek, an 18-year-old Notre Dame sophomore guard from Sioux City, Iowa, was reported today in a fair condition after suffering a possible concussion in yesterday's football game with Pennsylvania.

Dr. W. W. Turkman of the University of Pennsylvania hospital said he was awaiting X-rays of the injury before deciding how serious it was. Lemek was injured in the first period of the game won by Notre Dame, 28-20.

LeBaron Comes Off Bench, Leads Skins to Victory

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Eddie LeBaron, bounced up early in the game, came off the bench to steer the Washington Redskins to a pair of last period touchdowns and a 23-17 victory over the winless Chicago Cardinals today at Griffith stadium. It was the Cards' seventh setback.

Only Norman Van Brocklin's 534 yards in 1951, John Lujack's 483 in 1949 and Sammy Baugh's 446 in 1948 surpassed Thomason's passing effort.

Strangely enough, Thomason, now in his fourth year as a pro, was a bench warmer until the fourth game of this season and was called upon then only in desperation.

Bobby Walston started the Eagles to their fourth win against two defeats and a tie when he kicked a 15 yard field goal after a Philadelphia drive stalled on the Giants' 8 in the first period.

Then Thomason took over. The former VMI star teamed with Walston for a 62-yard touchdown—Walston took a 17 yard pass and raced the remaining 45 yards to the goal—and then flipped 26 yards to Pete Pihos for another six pointer to give Philadelphia 17-0 halftime lead.

A Totalizator
The automatic totalizator was first used in America at Hialeah race track, Jan. 14, 1932.

IN THE THIRD QUARTER, the Eagles soared 80 yards on five Thomason passes with the payoff pitch a 7 yard pass to Pihos—the eighth scoring pass caught by the big end this season. Walston, who kicked three extra points as well as his field goal, took a 13 yard flip from Thomason for a TD in the final period.

The Giants were completely bottled up for most of the game and didn't make the scoring column until mid-way in the final period. Then Charley Conerly lofted a pass to Frank Gifford for 32 yards, the scoring end of a 74-yard drive. Gifford converted to complete the game's scoring.

Bad feelings between the two clubs broke out in the final period and the officials were forced to break up several fist fights and inflict penalties for unsportsmanlike conduct and unnecessary roughness. Some of the 24,531 fans entered into the spirit of the fighting and bombarded the field with snowballs.

THE DEFEAT was the fifth in seven games for the hapless Giants of Coach Steve Owen, who not only absorbed another beating but lost the services of their brand new quarterback Arnold Galiffa.

Galiffa, the former West Point star who joined the Giants several weeks ago, was carried from the field on a stretcher, suffering from muscle spasms of the back.

PENNSYLVANIA'S PREVIEW OF LONG DISTANCE DIALING BY CUSTOMERS

On December 3, Long Distance Dialing by customers will go into operation in the VALLEY Central Office, near Pittsburgh. This installation will be the first of its kind in Pennsylvania, the third in the United States. By its use, VALLEY customers will be able to dial direct to telephones in 14 cities as widely separate as Boston and San Francisco.

VALLEY was chosen for the introduction of Long Distance Dialing by customers in Pennsylvania for two reasons: the equipment for this development was already on hand in the VALLEY Central Office and required only minor modification, and the necessary Long Distance dial-switching equipment is in use in nearby Pittsburgh. So the VALLEY Central Office proved to be the ideal location for the first Pennsylvania installation of Long Distance Dialing by customers.

As time passes, additional facilities and equipment will become available, permitting us to extend Customer Long Distance Dialing to other areas in the state.

Like other significant telephone developments in the past, and like those still in the laboratory stage, the VALLEY installation helps make good telephone service better. And as service keeps improving, the cost of enjoying it remains one of the biggest bargains.

Pitt's Best Linemen Hurt in Virginia

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8 (AP)—Tackle Eldred Kraemer of Pitt, boomed for All-America, is out with a dislocated right shoulder for the rest of the season.

Kraemer was injured in the third quarter of Saturday's Pitt-Virginia football game at Charlottesville, Va. Pitt won the game 26-0. The husky Junior was treated at Virginia hospital but returned with the team.

Also hurt in the game was end Dick Deitrick. He suffered a mild concussion. He will spend two or three days at West Penn hospital for observation and rest.

Mt. Lebanon Wins School X-Country

STATE COLLEGE, Nov. 8 (AP)—Mt. Lebanon has repeated its team victory of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association cross-country championships.

The Mt. Lebanon runners, led by Bob Lyle, garnered three of the first seven places in the 15th annual run yesterday. Lyle trudged through the snow in 12 minutes, 42.1 seconds over the 2½ mile course.

The Mt. Lebanon team effort also carried District 7 (WPIAL) to district laurels.

Last year's individual champion, Paul Jessup of Pittsburgh Langley, finished a poor 40th.

LeBaron Comes Off Bench, Leads 'Skins to Victory

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Little Eddie LeBaron, banged up early in the game, came off the bench to steer the Washington Redskins to a pair of last period touchdowns and a 28-17 victory over the winless Chicago Cardinals today at Griffith stadium. It was the Cards' seventh setback.

LeBaron, Washington's 168-pound ball-handling star, suffered severe bruises after leading the 'Skins on an 80-yard touchdown march in the first period. It was announced that he probably wouldn't play any more today.

But, after the Cardinals jumped into a 17-14 lead and narrowly missed another touchdown from Washington's one, LeBaron returned to action. His first significant play was a 50-yard pass to Fran Pollock to the nine. Leon Heath carried the ball over. He then directed the clinching rally with Charlie Justice picking up yardage on the second of his two 35-yard runs. Heath scored the touchdown.

Parilli's Pass In Final Minute Deadlocks Bears

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Babe Parilli hit Bill Howton with a 29-yard scoring pass with less than a minute and a half to play to pull the Green Bay Packers into a 21-21 tie with the Chicago Bears at Comiskey park today. The tie enabled the Packers to stay ahead of the cellar dwelling Bears in the Western conference.

Chicago had broken a 14-14 tie on the first play of the final quarter as George Blanda passed 16 yards to John Hoffman and then kicked his third extra point.

But in the waning minutes, Parilli and his mates took over on their 20 and advanced methodically downfield. Finally he lifted a perfect pass to Howton in the end zone and when Fred Cone's placement was good the score was tied for the last time.

Tittle's Passing Proves Difference

Rams Defeat by 49ers Throws Conference Into Tie

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Western conference of the National Football league was tossed back into a three-way tie for the lead today when the San Francisco 49ers came from behind on the arm of Y. A. Tittle to defeat the Los Angeles Rams' 31-27.

The victory, the second of the year by the 49ers over the Rams, left Los Angeles, San Francisco and Detroit tied.

Rutgers' Air Game Strikes Down Maroon

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 8 (AP)—Our passing finally clicked. Rutgers' football coach, in explanation of the Scarlet's sudden displacement was good the score was tied for the last time.

each with a 5-2 record. Detroit defeated the Baltimore Colts 17-7 last night.

Performing before 85,865 fans and in a temperature that was 111 on the field at the kickoff, Tittle connected with a 17-yard pass to end Gordy Soltau with little more than a minute to go for the winning touchdown. The throw climaxed an 80-yard aerial show. In their previous meeting at San Francisco, the 49ers won 31-30.

This installation will be the first of its kind in Pennsylvania, the third in the United States. By its use, VALLEY customers will be able to dial direct to telephones in 14 cities as widely separate as Boston and San Francisco.

VALLEY was chosen for the introduction of Long Distance Dialing by customers in Pennsylvania for two reasons: the equipment for this development was already on hand in the VALLEY Central Office and required only minor modification, and the necessary Long Distance dial switching equipment is in use in nearby Pittsburgh. So the VALLEY Central Office proved to be the ideal location for the first Pennsylvania installation of Long Distance Dialing by customers.

As time passes, additional facilities and equipment will become available, permitting us to extend Customer Long Distance Dialing to other areas in the state.

Like other significant telephone developments in the past, and like those still in the laboratory stage, the VALLEY installation helps make good telephone service better. And as service keeps improving, the cost of enjoying it remains one of the biggest bargains.

TIM TYLER'S LUCK

TIM RACED IN FRONT OF A STREAM OF MOLTEN LAVA IN TIME TO JOIN CARY AND CHOLLY. BUT THEY WERE OFF TO THE OTHERS.

COULD THEY SWIM AROUND AND ON LAVA, MR. BRANDT?

TIM AND CARY MIGHT, SPUD, BUT I DOUBT THAT CHOLLY COULD.

BESIDES, THE WATER IS HOT NOW... AND THEY MIGHT GET CAUGHT IN A SHOWER OF ROCKS FROM THE VOLCANO.

THEY ALL CAN CLIMB. MAYBE WE CAN BRIDGE THE LAVA AT THOSE TREES.

WE'LL HAVE TO WORK FAST THERE IS FIRE IN THE SLOPE!

MUGGS MCGINNIS

MUGGS, RUN ASK GRANDPA TO LET ME HAVE THREE DOLLARS TO GIVE THE LAUNDRESS BEFORE I GO DOWNTOWN.

OK!

AND HURRY, DEAR I WANT TO CATCH THE NEXT BUS...

SAV, GRANDMA, I JUST HAPPENED TO REMEMBER.

I'VE GOT THREE DOLLARS OF MY OWN. RIGHT HERE, THAT I CAN LET YOU HAVE...

NO, THANK YOU, MUGGS. RUN GET IT FROM GRAMPA, PLEASE...

...I DON'T HAVE TO PAY HIM BACK!

BRICK BRADFORD

BRICK HAS BEEN FORCED TO PILOT THE TIME-TO-BACK THROUGH TIME TO THE 12TH CENTURY.

THE POET, CAUGHT IN THE MAGIC OF THE MOMENT, RECITES...

"THE MOVING FINGER WRITES, AND HAVING WRIT, MOVES ON: NOR ALL YOUR PIETY NOR WIT..."

SHALL I LURE IT BACK TO CANCEL HALF A LINE, NOR ALL YOUR TEARS WASH OUT A WORD OF IT?

GEE, THAT'S PRETTY, POET! YOU WRITE THAT?

NO MR. TOR! THAT'S FROM THE RUBAIYAT OF OMAR KHAYYAM. WITH THIS TIME-TOPI I MIGHT GO BACK AND VISIT OLD OMAR... MAYBE CHANGE HIS OUTLOOK...

YOU'D BETTER LOOK OUT, POET!

ETTA KETT

AS LONG AS BENNY IS SPENDING A FEW DAYS WITH US, TRY TO GET ALONG WITH HIM.

WE'VE LEARNED TO LIVE WITH THE ATOM BOMB, SO I GUESS WE CAN WITH HIM!

HI, HERE'S A NOTE FROM MY MOM.

WHAT IS IT? A SPECIAL DIET? YOU LOOK HEALTHY ENOUGH TO ME.

IT'S A LIST OF THINGS I WON'T EAT.

SEE WHAT I MEAN?

BIG SISTER

HELP! BUDDY! HELP!

WHAT IN THE WORLD IS DORRINE SCREAMING ABOUT?

WE'LL GO CLOSER TO THE CROOKS, MAYBE WE'LL LEARN WHAT FRISBY'S PLANNING.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOU?

THAT KIDNAPPER! HE'S IN THE HOUSE! HE'S AFTER US AGAIN!

HE IS? WELL, LET'S GET HIM WITH YOU! LET'S GO!

RID OF HIM FOR GOOD THIS TIME! GRAB A CLUB AND FOLLOW ME!

BARNEY GOOGLE & SNUFFY SMITH

JEDGE POTTER!!

YE OUGHT TO BE ASHAMED!! TRUMPHIN' UP A COURT-TRIAL JEST TO KEEP VORESELF IN TH' LIMELIGHT

I RECKON YORE RIGHT, SILAS.

BUT JEST THINK HOW MANY FOLKS WOULD SWARM INTO HOOTIN' HOLLER AN' ALL THE MONEY THEY'D SPEND AN' YE GOT TH' ONLY STORE IN TOWN, SILAS... HOWSOEVER, I'LL CALL OFF TH' DURN TRIAL

HAVE A SEEGAR, JEDGE!!

UH-HOW LONG DO YE SPOSE TH' TRIAL COULD BE DRUG OUT?

THE LONE RANGER

WE'LL GO CLOSER TO THE CROOKS, MAYBE WE'LL LEARN WHAT FRISBY'S PLANNING.

ALL THE TIME FRISBY WAS WITH US, THE ARMY THOUGHT HE WAS A PRISONER OF THE INDIANS.

NOW HE WILL TELL THE COLONEL HE ESCAPED FROM THE INDIANS.

MICKY MOUSE

NEPHEW! I'M SORRY I FORGOT ABOUT ASKING YOU OVER!

GOOD NIGHT! IT REALLY IS A GORILLA!

WHILE THAT VERSATILE CUT-UP, Donald O'Connor, was doing his hitch in the U. S. Army, he ran into temporary difficulties with income tax authorities, and was allowed to accept a two-week engagement at a theatre near his post to get himself out of hock. His first show brought down the house and the manager enthused, "Best darn act we've ever had here—but boy, where did you get that corny accompanist? Better let us replace him for the next show." "I'm nay," whispered O'Connor frantically, "and pipe down, will you? That guy's my commanding officer!"

DONALD O'CONNOR

Two students emerged gravely from the University doctor's office. "Gosh, Ed," said one, "do you think Doc was leveling when he said you'd be dead in a month if you didn't stop chasing dames?" "He sure was," replied the other. "He's jealous of his wife and she must have talked about me."

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that Montgomery County Commissioners Frederick C. Peters, Foster C. Hillebrand and Raymond E. K. Hillebrand have filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, their Petition praying for the appointment by the Court of a private sale of a certain lot or piece of land, purchased by them at a County Treasurer's Tax Sale held on April 18th, 1953, of the lot or piece of land known as Lot 4, Oak View, Sec. 6, Greencroft, at the said Tax Sale, and the said Tax Sale, the said Lot 4, Oak View, Sec. 6, Greencroft, was assessed to and reputedly owned by Leo E. Ryan, under the terms of the said Tax Sale, the said Lot is to be sold to ARTHUR B. LUCAS and MARTHA LUCAS, his wife, for the sum of $100.00, for the purchase of the said Lot, without the County Commissioners warranting the title and subject to existing encumbrances and easements, to be purchased by the said Leo E. Ryan, and also the cost of recording the Commissioners' Deed, conveying the said Lot to them, as a hearing on said Petition will be held on November 27, 1953, at ten o'clock A. M., in Court Room "A", in the Montgomery County Court House at Pottsville, Pa., and no valid objections are interposed to the said private sale at that time, the Court will be asked to enter a Decree of Sale.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that Montgomery County Commissioners Frederick C. Peters, Foster C. Hillebrand and Raymond E. K. Hillebrand have filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, their Petition praying for the appointment by the Court of a private sale of a certain lot or piece of land, purchased by them at a County Treasurer's Tax Sale held on April 18th, 1953, of the lot or piece of land known as Lot 4, Oak View, Sec. 6, Greencroft, at the said Tax Sale, and the said Tax Sale, the said Lot 4, Oak View, Sec. 6, Greencroft, was assessed to and reputedly owned by Leo E. Ryan, under the terms of the said Tax Sale, the said Lot is to be sold to ARTHUR B. LUCAS and MARTHA LUCAS, his wife, for the sum of $100.00, for the purchase of the said Lot, without the County Commissioners warranting the title and subject to existing encumbrances and easements, to be purchased by the said Leo E. Ryan, and also the cost of recording the Commissioners' Deed, conveying the said Lot to them, as a hearing on said Petition will be held on November 27, 1953, at ten o'clock A. LEGAL NOTICES 11

NOTICE
NOTICE is hereby given that Montgomery County Commissioners Frederick C. Peters, Foster C. Huggins and Raymond K. Mench, have filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, their Petition praying for the approval of the County of a private sale of a certain lot or piece of land, purchased by them at a County Treasurers' Sale held on April 18th, 1953. The said lot is situated in West Pottstown Township, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, and is known as Lot 43 Oak View, Sec. G, Sycamore. At the time of said Treasurers' Sale, the said Lot 43 Oak View, Sec. G, Sycamore, was assessed to and reputedly owned by Leo E. Ery. Under the terms of the proposed sale, the said Lot is to be sold to ARTHUR B. LUCAS and MARTHA LUCAS, his wife, for the price of Fifty ($50.00) Dollars, without the County Commissioners warranting the title and subject to existing encumbrances and easements. The purchasers to pay all the 1953 taxes, and also the cost of recording the Commissioners' Deed, conveying the said Lot, to be held on November 27, 1953, at ten o'clock A. M. in Court Room "A", in the Montgomery County Court House in Courtstown, Pa., and if no valid objections are interposed to the said private sale, at that time, the Court will be asked to enter a Decree, approving the same. MAXWELL STRAWBRIDGE, County Solicitor.

WHY?

We asked a group of 270 new employees why they had come to the Telephone Company to find a job. They gave many different reasons, but the three reasons that topped all others were these: (1) good starting salary; (2) opportunity for advancement; (3) full pay while learning. If one of these reasons appeals to you—or all of them—why don't you join these new employees? All you do is stop in at any Employment Office or Business Office listed in the Directory. If you prefer, call the Operator and ask for the Employment Office for Women. No experience is needed, and salaries are good from the start.

Do You Remember?

Those grand old days when Pottstown and area was in its infancy—Here's another photo that may recapture a few moments of eternity for you, a picture to stir your memory and let you catch a glimpse of the past.

It's a little cold to contemplate running outside in track suits, but here's the Pottstown High school track team of 1913. The boys organized and coached the team themselves. Even through the haze of nostalgia, one member conceded they'd made out only

Christian Mothers Club Holds Banquet Athletic Club Election Results in Tie Vote

TRAPPE—Mrs. Donald Yerkes, Cor. Phone Schwesville 4972, George Clarke Jr. and John E. Hartman Jr., Del. Phone Collegeville 7576. The Christian Mothers club held its annual banquet recently at the Clover Leaf restaurant, in Pottstown. The president, Mrs. Harry Leopold, introduced the speaker, Mrs. George Lyon, a missionary mother on furlough from Africa who told of her experiences with the native women of that land. The mothers' vocal trio, composed of Mrs. Jacob Bowman, Mrs. Gordon Poley and Mrs. Clarence Didden and accompanied by Mrs. Edward Romig, sang several numbers. A social hour followed, with introductions, games, group singing and a friendship circle.

Other members and guests present were: Mrs. William Bersler, Mrs. Robert Bickel, Mrs.

Howard Chittick, Mrs. Horace Evans, Mrs. George Fritz, Mrs. Joseph Hallman, Mrs. Raymond Hess, Mrs. John Hughes, Mrs. William Law, Mrs. Wilbur Long, Mrs. Alexander Lyon, Mrs. Robert McCahan, Mrs. Howard Michner, Mrs. Russell Moyer, Mrs. James Obold, Mrs. Jacob Ruth and Mrs. Harry Wagner. Mrs. O. Leland Bechtel was able to return to her home recently having been a hospital patient for several weeks. Mrs. Charles McIlwain, of Norristown, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Lynch and family.

Annual election of officers by St. John's Falcon athletic club resulted in a tie for one office yesterday. John Shanta Jr. and John Feyko received an equal number of votes for financial secretary. A run-off election will be held next Sunday from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. to decide the winner, it was announced last night. Frank Petro defeated incumbent Michael Urban Sr. for the office of president. Urban had served for two years.

Other officers elected during the afternoon voting at the club were: John Baczor, vice president; John Horvat, treasurer; Peter Leck, recording secretary; and Clarence Bartman, John Horvat and Joseph Suchoza, auditors. Directors elected were George Metro Sr., Andrew Cihly and Michael Cisik.

Top-Flight Driver Quits Ambulance Job

Edward Seeders, one of the top drivers of the Good Will ambulance, said last night that he has made his last trip.

"I resigned the job midnight Saturday," he said.

Seeders, who lives in Gilbertsville RD 1, has been driving the ambulance on a full-time basis since April, 1951. He was a part-time driver for a year before that.

He gave no reason for his resignation.

"I've been offered a job in the aircraft business near Los Angeles, Calif. I may take that," he said.

"TOTAL POWER"

ESSO EXTRA

THE BEST GASOLINE YOU CAN BUY!

TOTAL WORKING HORSEPOWER for the highest-compression cars! For many late model high-compression cars "Total Power" Esso Extra makes it possible for the first time to enjoy full performance without a trace of knock or ping.

TOTAL WORKING HORSEPOWER wherever "cold engine stalling" is a critical problem on cool, moist days. Contains a special additive that protects against stalling caused by carburetor icing, permits maximum possible power-flow from the time you start your engine.

- Bringing you:
- 1. MORE SHEER ANTI-KNOCK POWER than any other gasoline you can buy!
 - 2. TOTAL POWER to get the utmost working horsepower from any engine under today's all-round driving conditions

New "TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA is a blend of hydrocarbon power components especially engineered to meet the total power and anti-knock requirements of even the highest-compression new engines. For millions of older cars it means better working horsepower and better total engine performance. It is not only the finest gasoline in Esso history . . . but the very best gasoline you can buy!

TOTAL POWER means just what it says. It means, to begin with, a great advance in sheer high-compression POWER under the toughest driving conditions. It means POWER to start fast in any weather . . . POWER for fast warm-up . . . POWER to kill off knocks and pings . . . POWER to resist cool weather stalling . . . POWER to take steep hills in stride . . . POWER to pick up swiftly from a standstill. It means that in the total of the jobs your engine is called on to do, you can expect the maximum that can be obtained from any gasoline that you can buy. The inevitable result is the kind of smooth performance and long mileage you've always wanted.

For the very newest in "Happy Motoring" try new "TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA in your car today. You will find no other gasoline gives you more in extra performance under today's all-round driving conditions.
